Hundreds at Impressive Funeral Services for Mrs. A. W. Tower

GRIEF, deepened by the sudden visitation of death, dominated the gathering of over 1000 persons this morning at the First Methodist church, where the funeral services were held for Mrs. Louise Pearl Collins Tower, wife of Alphonso W. Tower, whose death occurred Monday morning at the family home at 214 East Park avenue.

Relatives, girlhood chums, school and college mates, sorority sisters, fellow members of clubs and church, neighbors and other friends, all sharing a common sorrow, met at the church for the impressive service conducted by Dr. B. D. Snudden of South Pasadena, former pastor of the Glendale First Methodist church, assisted by Dr. H. I. Rasmus, Sr., present pastor.

Floral Tribute
Glendale's brilliant flower gardens were shorn of their beauty for the countless floral tributes, expressive of the high esteem in which Mrs. Tower was held by her hosts of friends. Surrounding the casket and banked high on either side and in the chancel were floral pieces and bouquets of wonderful design and beauty.

Among the pieces were: There were large floral tributes bearing cards from the Tuesday Afternoon club officers, members and the past presidents' organization; from all chapters of P. E. O.; from Glen Eyrre chapter, Eastern Star; from past masters of the Glen Eyrre chapter; from various departments of the First Methodist church; from the Glendale High School board, from officers of the Los Angeles Polytechnic High school; from the Alpha Phi alumnae; from the Glendale College Women's club; from the Glendale Masonic organization and from countless other friends in all parts of southern California and the east.

Represent Organizations
Seated in groups in the auditorium were members of organizations to which Mrs. Tower belonged. These friends had gathered before the hour for the service and their entrance into the church in bodies was most impressive. Organizations represented were:

The Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Tower became a charter member in 1908. She served the club as president two terms, 1911-1912 and 1919-1920. At the time of her death she was a member of the original building committee, chairman of club printing, secretary of the past presidents' club and active in the club sections.

Chapter L. P. E. O., which she joined in 1911 and in which she had held all offices, for which she held a certificate of recognition from the state chapter.

Glendale College Women's Club, of which she became a charter member last fall and which she served as chairman of programs.

Anti-Jap Outrage to Cause Upheaval, Fear

PEKING, June 7.—Fear was expressed here today that the Changsha outrage in which Japanese residents of that city were forced to take refuge in the consulate and on a gunboat during an anti-Japanese demonstration may result in a general upheaval in the Yangtze valley with foreign interests generally involved. The dissolution of the Chinese cabinet has greatly complicated the situation arising from the Shantung bandit outrage.

Blame Students for Bombing of Church

SACRAMENTO, June 7.—No arrests had been made at an early hour today in connection with the abortive attempt made last night to bomb the United Brethren church. Police indicated that they believed the bombing was the work of local high school students who were incensed over charges of alleged immoral conduct at the local high school brought by Rev. Oliver P. Harnish, pastor of the church.

Germany Offers Finance Scheme To Commission

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

BERLIN, June 7.—The German reparations memorandum, setting forth Berlin's latest offer, contains a clear-cut annuity scheme for yearly payments to the inter-allied reparations commission. It was revealed this afternoon.

The foreign office announced that a copy of the German communication would be delivered to the American state department at Washington at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

After amplifying the preceding German proposals the note concludes by saying that, since it is apparently impossible to solve the reparations problems through exchange of notes, a conference is advisable to allow the interested nations to gather at a round table.

The government stated that it was ready to throw open, if necessary, all Germany's financial records to enable the allies to investigate all the fiscal situation of the government since the Versailles treaty was signed. The memorandum contains far-reaching guarantees, primarily affecting German railways, housing, tobacco and alcohol. The railways are virtually pawned for a long term.

It is proposed that Germany be given a breathing spell and that the first revenue payments on the reparations account be paid in 1927.

HARDING RENEWS COURT ADVOCACY

Help to Civilization, Says President in Letter to Bishop Gailor

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Harding again today voiced his strong advocacy of America joining the international court of justice, set up under the League of Nations.

In a letter to Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, president of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal church, the president declared his proposal was placed before the senate after "months of thought, study and conference" and that in his opinion "America could make its largest feasible contribution to the stabilization of civilization" by adhering to the court's program.

At the same time he reiterated that joining the court does not mean joining the League.

"We will surrender none of the advantages and independence which we enjoy," said the president in his letter.

The president pictured the court proposal as a middle-of-the-road course between those who are pronounced advocates of America's joining the league, and those who are unalterably opposed to it. He added that this mention specifically any factions or organizations.

Glendale Ave. Paving To Take Six Months

The Resolution of Intention is being published today by the City Council for the paving of Glendale avenue from San Fernando road to Lexington drive, with a four-inch foundation of asphaltic concrete and an inch and a half surface of National Paving.

City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy stated this morning that street notices should be posted the first of next week. He added that this means that protests must be received about June 21. The City Council, meanwhile, may set a date for the hearing of protests. After these have been heard, the improvement may be ordered by the Council.

Contractors will be given two weeks to bid, bids will be taken under advisement for about two weeks, and the contractor whose bid is accepted will be given at least two weeks to get his paraphernalia on the job. After that, he will have about 120 days to complete the work—provided extensions are not granted by the City Council.

GIVE DETAILS OF OFFER BY GERMANY

Note Suggests Conference With Allies to Fix Reparations Total

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, June 7.—Germany's new reparations offer, which was delivered to the foreign office this afternoon, suggests a conference with the allies to fix the amount of reparations Germany must pay and the method of paying. German embassy officials predicted that if the offer were unacceptable, the Cuno government at Berlin will resign.

The German government proposes to issue obligations totalling ten billion gold marks upon railroads and ten billion upon industries and real estate to insure the annual payments pledged to the allies.

The note said if an international loan is impracticable Germany is ready to substitute a system of annuities.

To Guarantee Receipts
Germany offers to guarantee receipts from the railroads setting aside for the reparations account 500,000,000 gold marks annually, beginning July 1, 1927.

The government promises to subject business, banking, industry, agriculture and traffic to a first mortgage levying tax which will yield 500,000,000 gold marks annually.

Customs and excise duties (on goods not necessities) are pledged and it is estimated these will bring about 200,000,000 gold marks annually.

Belgium Gets Setback Result of Conference

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

BRUSSELS, June 7.—Impression prevailed in Belgian parliamentary circles today that Belgium received a setback in the Franco-Belgian conference as Premier Poincare of France refused to discuss the details of the Belgian reparations plan at this time. Belgian officials had hoped to canvass the plan thoroughly.

It is learned from Belgian sources that Premier Poincare holds that the English must bear "partial moral responsibility" for Ruhr disorders. The premier was said to have told the Belgians that one word from London would be sufficient to cause the Germans to cease passive resistance in the Ruhr. So far the British government has refused to convey this hint to Berlin.

Rejects Suggestions
Premier Poincare is understood to have rejected Belgian suggestions for concessions to get the English into reparations discussions.

The Frenchmen explain they see no practical advantage in sitting with the British in a reparations conference as long as (Continued on page 3)

LIGHTS FOR NO. ISABEL INSTALLED

System Will Be Ready for Operation in Few Days, Says Official

North Isabel street between Broadway and the wash is scheduled for illumination before the week is over by the new ornamental lights.

Peter Diederich, superintendent of the public service department, stated this morning that the new standards have been installed already and that all that needs to be done is to fasten on the glass globes and make the final electric connection.

Delay in putting this system into service, according to Mr. Diederich, has been due to inability to get the standards sooner from a cement products company of Los Angeles. He stated that this concern had so much business that it was unable to get around to the local order sooner.

The Marbleite standards will be surmounted by one globe which will contain a 100 candlepower electric light.

Cost of Improvement
Altogether sixty-four standards have been installed at intervals on the same side of the street of 160 feet but staggered on opposite sides of the street at intervals of eighty feet apart. Two standards are placed on diagonal corners at each intersection and side streets have one standard about eighty feet to the east and one about eighty feet to the west of Isabel street.

The total cost of this installation will be about $8600. The standards cost $32 apiece, the globes $5.50 and the lights 90 cents. The greatest part of the expense is in the underground conduit and cable. The assessment for the installation, which is levied against the property owners along the street, amounts to about $1.10 per front foot. Owners of corner lots will pay about twice this amount.

The cost of operation, which will be paid out of the general tax fund, will be about $3 a lot yearly or about $960 per annum for the entire system.

Well Developed
Through the concerted efforts of property owners on North Isabel street, that section of the city has been remarkably developed in the past two years.

The lights were installed by the property owners, organized by H. J. Eggers of 322 North Isabel street.

Mr. Eggers bought on Isabel street two years ago and he immediately began talking improvements until he had all the property owners enthused. Building restrictions were placed and now in addition to being a street of attractive homes, North Isabel street from Broadway to the wash will be a well-lighted street.

NEW MOVE FOR SOLDIERS' BONUS

'Legality' Basis of Plan for Campaign Before Next Session of Congress

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Predicting enactment of a $1,200,000,000 adjusted compensation bill by the next congress, Senator Bursum, Republican of New Mexico, chairman of the senate pension committee, today announced the bonus fight in behalf of America's 4,000,000 world war veterans would be waged from a new angle—that of legality.

The government, Senator Bursum said, had contracted a "legal obligation" by forcing its soldiers to pay their own insurance and in forcing allotments during the war. He cited state compensation acts, affecting peace time employment to emphasize the government's obligation.

Furthermore, Bursum declared, the bonus bill when passed, will be signed by President Harding. If not, he said, there are enough votes to pass it over his veto.

Ready to Lead Fight
Bursum announced he would introduce the bonus bill as soon as congress reconvened and was prepared to lead the fight for its enactment. The new Bursum bill, he said, will be modeled after the one introduced in the last congress with certain changes.

The bill will pay a minimum of $32 a month to the veterans, through the following principal provisions:

1. Refunding of all insurance payments, averaging $7 a month per man.
2. Repayment of all enforced allotments, ranging from $5 to $15 a month, and,
3. Payment of a "retroactive" wage increase of $20 a month for service during the war (equal to the increase given civilian employees during the war.)

Comb Underworld in Hunt for Girl Slayer

CHICAGO, June 7.—Fifteen women, familiar with haunts of the underworld of this city, were being sought today and their movements of Saturday night undergoing close scrutiny by police officials in the widespread search for the girling girl who calmly shot down Richard Tesmer before the eyes of his wife after she and her male companion had robbed the couple. Attorneys at the office of State's Attorney Crowe declared the list of women who have been freed by Cook county juries of murder charges "will total at twenty-nine."

Make Ten World Records And Then Set Out to Break More

By KENT COCHRAN
For International News Service

SAN DIEGO, June 7.—With ten world's seaplane records for speed, duration and distance accredited this as the result of yesterday's spectacular efforts, the battle fleet air squadron of the United States navy this morning set out after several altitude and short-distance speed records. The tests yesterday were held over a triangular twenty-five-kilometer course. A three-kilometer straightaway has been measured for, today's speed dash efforts.

The general jubilation in army and navy flying circles over the ten new records was somewhat dampened by the failure of Lieutenant Ostlie to lower the mark for 100 and 200 kilometers, held by the British royal flying corps. Ostlie's speed for the first two laps approximated 136 miles an hour, but thereafter it decreased until it fell below the 130-mile-an-hour record.

Class of 1922 Will Picnic at Pasadena

A reunion of last year's high school graduating class will be held tomorrow afternoon at Brookside Park, Pasadena. The afternoon will be spent in social activities which will be followed by a banquet dinner financed by the class treasury. Most of the 137 members of the class of 1922 are expected to attend.

The affair is in charge of Don Cameron of Eagle Rock, president of the class and now a student at U. S. C., Maynard Toll of 415 Kenneth road, now a student at the Southern Branch of the University of California, and Victor Colburn of 459 Hawthorne avenue, now a student at U. S. C.

Find Wreckage From British Steamship

SYDNEY, Australia, June 7.—Wreckage from the British steamship Trevisa, was picked up today, indicating that the vessel was lost. The vessel was last reported sinking in the Indian ocean. The seaman Trevisa had reported by wireless she had arrived at the position where the Trevisa was last heard from, but that no trace of the vessel nor the crew could be found.

Strike Breakers Are Assaulted in Riots

CONFERENCE OF LEAGUE OPENS

Colorado River Project Is Subject of Paper by Former Riverside Mayor

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 7.—The conference of the League of the Southwest was called to order here today by Postmaster James B. Rickard, of Santa Barbara, who introduced permanent Chairman Harry M. Merrick. The meeting was held in the beautiful recreation center in the heart of the city.

Mayor James B. Sloan welcomed the delegates and visitors to the city.

A memorial paper in honor of the late John S. Akerman of San Diego, known as the "godfather" of the League of the Southwest, was responded to by E. A. Hornbeck, representing the Board of supervisors of San Diego county. The conference proper was opened by Dr. Horace Porter, former mayor of Riverside, who spoke on the "Genius of the Colorado river movement."

Shrine Club Members Occupy New Quarters

Shrine club members were too delighted with their new club rooms to bother with routine business at the regular meeting last night. Led by Dr. Ripley Jackson, president, the club members gathered in their new club quarters in the Nesselrood building on West Broadway, and spent the evening informally.

Events of the past year were talked over and tentative plans made for entertaining in the club rooms early in the fall.

Captain Jackson states that the keys to the club rooms will be available until July 1 at his office at the postoffice at all times and the Shriners and their friends are welcome to use the club rooms for card games and visiting.

One Killed, Two Hurt In Automobile Smash

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 7.—Miss Bertha Domes, 25, was killed and Miss Thelma Landisman, 22, and Miss Estelle Weisberg, 23, suffered fractured skulls when an automobile in which they were riding hit a truck and overturned near here. They were en route from New York to California. All were residents of New York.

AUTOS IN CRASH

A collision occurred late yesterday afternoon at the intersection of San Fernando road and Broadway between a passenger car, driven by J. Murphy for Harris & Hull. The touring car received about $45 worth of damage.

CITY COUNCIL PLANS CUT IN YEARLY EXPENSES

Program of Economy Being Carried Out; Slash May Total 30 Cents

By GIL A. COWAN
CONSIDERATION of the annual budget by the Glendale City Council tonight will further reveal how the national and state program of economy with efficiency is taking root locally.

From members of the council it is learned that at least a 30 cent reduction will be made in the tax rate, it being $4.52 at the present time. If the county assessor's figures the first of July show Glendale's total assessed valuation to be greater—and some predict an $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 increase—a greater reduction in taxes may be looked for.

A survey of the city reveals several million dollars' worth of new buildings and several more millions additional valuation in recent subdivisions. It is to be hoped, however, the board of equalization will have a heart and refuse to raise the values in districts already carrying a peak load of taxation.

The council and other officials have been quietly considering the tax situation in Glendale and lopped off approximately $147,000 in estimated expenses in order to keep the city within an estimated revenue of $357,200. This compares favorably with the estimated revenue of the present fiscal year, which, based on ten months' figures, will amount to $344,000, in round figures.

Population Grows
It is estimated the city has increased in population to the extent of 12,000 people, or nearly 4000 homes during the twelve months ending July 1, 1923. A similar increase is expected during the coming fiscal year, yet the council plans to keep the same general expenditure for various departments as have maintained.

Two exceptions in the program of economy will meet with public approval for they are increased street repair work estimates, and street lighting which was voted upon by the people themselves. All members of the council are in accord with the program which will be submitted tonight, it is understood.

Building Up Reserve
City Manager W. H. Reeves, in commenting on hints given by the council regarding the savings planned, states that economy is the watchword. City Controller H. C. Saulsbury will be prepared to make public figures tonight indicating just what the council has achieved in its consideration of the needs of the various departments.

"Best of all," according to one official "the city of Glendale is building up a reserve, having made a saving during the passing fiscal year, in face of the constant demands made upon municipal revenues by the fastest growing city in America."

It must be remembered by local taxpayers that Glendale, as a separate municipality, governs itself very economically considering its marvelous development. The tax rate here compares favorably with any other city when increased realty values are considered.

Reject Requests for New Shrine Temples

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The Shrine's imperial council, in its closing business session today, rejected eight application for new temples. Declaring there was no present need for the proposed new temples, the council voted down applications from Cumberland, Md.; Akron, Ohio; Kansas City, Kas.; Council Bluffs, Iowa; Ottumwa, Iowa; Danville, Ill.; Johnstown, Pa., and Fort Dodge, Iowa.

The council, however, awarded a formal charter to Ben Ali temple of Sacramento, Cal., which was given a "dispensation" last year.

RURAL DELIVERY
STARTS JULY 2ND

New Route Authorized Will Expedite Post Office Work in Tujunga

A rural delivery route service from the Tujunga postoffice is now a certainty, after many months of hard work on the part of residents of the valley. Definite details of the formation of the route have been received by Postmistress Nona Halferty. The delivery service starts the first Monday in July, the second day of that month, and will do away with the present system whereby mail is routed out of Glendale, eliminating many delays and other inconveniences.

Heretofore persons living on the route wishing to communicate with other people on the same route had to wait while the mail went to Los Angeles, back to Glendale and was eventually distributed from that office to the local route, sometimes a delay of a week or more to send a letter one or two miles. The system about to be inaugurated will do away with this roundabout method, a change that the valley residents have been working for many months. It is hailed by people who are watching the development of this district as an important sign of the recognition the section is getting for its rapid growth and improvement.

Must Install Boxes

Mail delivery will start on the above date for the route listed below. Persons living within one-quarter of a mile of the postoffice will not be served by this carrier, but will receive their mail at the office as heretofore. Boxes must conform to prescribed specifications and requirements may be obtained from the postmistress.

The name of the owner and the box number must be placed on the boxes. Box numbers will not be assigned, however, until two months after the inauguration of the new service. At that time seventy-five per cent of the heads of families living on the route must be patronizing the service and have provided mail boxes for the reception of their mail, to insure continuance of the service.

The route outlined is the territory to be covered by the new system.

Describe Route

Detailed description of route number one, Tujunga, California, as established, effecting curtailment and transfer of route number eleven from Los Angeles, California. Effective July 2, 1923.

P. T. A. Banquet

The executive board of the Tujunga Parent-Teachers' association held their annual banquet at the schoolhouse Monday evening, June 4, at 6:30. Wives and husbands of the members of the board, the school trustees and the teachers were the guests.

The table was beautifully decorated. The favors were concealed by paper hats of blue, trimmed in yellow. The place cards, of which there were twenty-six, were painted in purple and gold, by Marzelle Greer.

The speaking was very informal, and no definite subjects were chosen by the speakers, who were chosen at random. Mrs. B. Reynolds, retiring president of this year's Parent-Teachers' association, and member of the board of trustees, addressed the banquet and called upon Mrs. Theobald, who was instrumental in organizing the association in Tujunga, and who was the first president of the organization. Wallace M. Morgan, president of the school board; F. W. Axe, principal of the school; Mrs. Correll, secretary of the Parent-Teacher association, and others, addressed the meeting in an informal way.

Covers were marked for the following: Mesdames Warnick, Reiley, Everett, Miller, Frank, McGee, Theobald, Correll, Johns-

KANSANS PICNIC
AT MONTE VISTA

Strong Organization Formed By Former Citizens of Two Counties

The Monte Vista park was the scene of the second picnic held there by the Rice and Reno county club, composed of former residents of the state of Kansas, who are now located in Southern California.

This club was formed about two months ago when about 100 representatives of these two counties met for an outing at the park. At that time Russell R. Peterson of Los Angeles was elected president, and Dr. Cora Wilson, of Tujunga, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the club is entirely social and to promote a closer friendship between the Rice and Reno county people who now reside in Southern California. These two counties are the most prosperous in central Kansas, according to members of the club.

There were about 150 at the last meeting and picnic and many new members joined. Barbara Brinkerhoff, daughter of Judge Brinkerhoff of Hollywood, gave a reading. Ira Morter of Covina also gave a reading.

Will Meet In August

Bruce Anawalt gave a brief address of welcome to the club members. In the absence of the club president, Mr. Peterson, Dr. Cora Wilson, of 523 Haines Canyon Road, presided.

The date of the next meeting and picnic has been fixed as the first Sunday in August, which comes on the 5th and the place as Brookside park, Pasadena.

Reverend W. E. Smith of the Standard Baptist church announces as his subject for the Sunday at the morning services, "Past, Present and Future." For the evening services, "Your Worst Enemy," John 3-18. The pastor is expecting his daughter, Mrs. Vanderlander, of Redlands, this week for a visit. His son, Guy Smith, will also spend a few days at the parsonage.

Details of Germany's Offer on Reparations

Great Britain maintains the attitude she has held since January. Belgium may suggest to London through diplomatic circles that the British hint to Germany that the policy of passive resistance against Franco-Belgian occupation be canceled.

The Franco-Belgian conference was one of the shortest on record. Premier Poincare and his French colleagues, departed from Paris at 8:10 o'clock this morning, less than twenty-four hours after their arrival here.

The annual election of officers for the Tujunga Woman's club will take place next Thursday, June 14, at the Community church. The annual picnic of the club will be held on June 23 at Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Guy Barry, president of the club, is motoring in the north, but will return in time for the election.

Church Will Build

A congregational meeting has been called for Wednesday evening, June 13, at 8 o'clock, at the Community church to discuss plans for the building of the addition to the church, for which a fund campaign was started some time ago. All are urged to be present and give the meeting the benefit of their business judgment and foresight on this important matter.

A new Christian Endeavor banner is hanging in the east end of the auditorium that was carried off by the Community church society of Tujunga for the largest attendance at the Glendale Christian Endeavor district convention.

At the oratorical contest last Sunday evening on "What Christian Endeavor Has Done for Me," Joyce Farr was chosen to represent the society in the oratorical contest on the same subject at the district convention, to be held at Glendale, on Sunday, June 10.

On Sunday, June 10, the entire Sunday school hour will be given to the Children's Day program. This program marks the beginning of a new system in the Sunday school by which the children in the lower classes will be annually graduated to the next higher class on Children's Day. Mrs. H. J. Jaeger is teaching the children their songs and speeches. There will be worth-while exercises, and a full house is anticipated.

The members of the church who are using the envelope system to turn in their contributions are urged to make their contributions in a systematic way.

The Valley Garage, owned by Kilbourn & Silva, started the week with the sale of a Chevrolet touring car to Sheldon Coit, of Tujunga.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Durham left for San Francisco in their coupe Monday night. They will pay a short visit to Mr. Durham's sister and return, bringing the sister with them for an extended visit with them here.

SHE FAVORS MODESTY BELT

Irene Castle Favors Protection In Dancing

Modesty bumper

Before sailing for Europe, Irene Castle Tremaine, widow of the late Vernon Castle, experienced such disgust at dances she had seen in the middle west that she expressed a decided favor for the "modesty belt," a French invention. It consists of spiked belts for women, which keep their male partners at a respectful distance. The new belt, which has just been introduced in Chicago, is worn by Miss Bee Thompson.

Decade of D. A. R. History Celebrated at Meeting in Honor of Departed Regent

THE milestone marking ten years of organization and growth was passed yesterday by members of the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, meeting at the Congregational church for their annual "white breakfast," which not only stood as an anniversary but also as a memorial to the late Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly, organizing regent and life member of the chapter, whose death occurred April 26, 1923.

Following Mrs. Braly's death the Daughters unanimously agreed that the "white breakfast" should stand as an annual memorial to her and yesterday, on the occasion of the first memorial, it was most fitting that Mrs. Stookey of Los Angeles, state regent, should be guest of honor and speaker and install the officers who are to serve the chapter during the coming year.

In addition to Mrs. Stookey the Daughters were honored to have included in the company Mrs. Margaret M. Gale of 122 North Cedar street, daughter of the late Mrs. Martha M. Morris, charter member of the General Richard Gridley chapter; Miss Ida Myers, retiring chaplain and first vice-president-elect of the chapter, and also state chairman of conservation and thrift; and Mrs. J. H. Ballagh, state chairman of colonial relics. They were also greatly pleased to greet Mrs. June M. Selleck, sister of Mrs. C. W. Houston, regent, who has recently returned from a year and a half in the Orient.

National Colors Used

With the great historical background of the organization as an ever-present inspiration, the national colors are always first in the hearts of the Daughters and red, white and blue were used in the breakfast table appointments.

The long tables were arranged in a square in the small social hall of the church. In the center was a basket bright with flags and greenery, while extending the full length of the white tablecloth was a flat arrangement of white Shasta daisies, blue corn flowers and red geraniums. The places were marked by white cards, bearing a tiny silk American flag, and before the places of Mrs. Stookey and officers of the chapter were corsage bouquets of pink sweetpeas.

Upon gathering about the table the company stood while Miss Ida Myers, chaplain, made a prayer of blessing and followed this by a beautifully worded prayer in tribute to Mrs. Braly.

This was followed by the reading by Mrs. Houston of a telegram from Mrs. Braly's daughter, Mrs. Erminia Kirk, of Santa Barbara. The telegram read: "With love and greetings to the chapter, and sincere appreciation of your loyalty to me mother."

Following the breakfast, the company went upstairs to the women's parlor, where the program planned for the afternoon was opened with the impressive D. A. R. ritual, led by Mrs. C. W. Houston, regent; Miss Ida Myers, chaplain, and responses by the Daughters.

Officers Report

During a short business hour reports were heard from Mrs. Rathbun on philanthropy, Miss Myers on patriotic education, and Mrs. Leppelman on flag work.

Features of their reports told of the presentation of an American flag to the Tuesday Afternoon club and of the presentation of other flags and distribution of the flag code; of the completion of the mile of pennies begun by Mrs. Braly, and the adding of $155.50 to the $844.40 to make it $1000.00 to present to the endowment fund for the maternity cottage; of the distribution of 905 pieces of clothing, magazines and other articles, and 100 pounds of papers.

Miss Myers' report covered the patriotic educational activities of the chapter, and also concerned the state work in conservation and thrift. She stated that the Glendale chapter had planted sixty-eight trees. The General Richard Gridley chapter is justly proud of Miss Myers' splendid work and of the recognition she received at the recent continental congress in Washington, D. C., where she was highly commended by the national regent.

In installing the officers Mrs. Stookey read the ritual used at national affairs of the D. A. R. She installed Mrs. C. W. Houston, regent; Miss Ida Myers, first vice-regent; Mrs. S. C. Leppelman, second vice-regent; Mrs. J. A. Crawford, recording secretary; Mrs. W. G. Lyman, treasurer; Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, registrar; Mrs. S. H. Butterfield, chaplain; and Mrs. T. W. Preston, historian.

Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, corresponding secretary-elect, is traveling in the east and was not present for installation. Mrs. Ocker represented the Glendale chapter at the continental congress.

Mrs. Stookey's informal talk was of intense interest. She stated that it was her desire to tell of the aims and objects of the national D. A. R. organization as revealed through state and national activities reported at the recent congress. "The Daughters of the American Revolution was organized in 1890 by eighteen women," she began, "and at the congress reports showed that in 1923 there are 1923 chapters in existence with 135,000 members, owning property valued at over $1,000,000."

Other features of Mrs. Stookey's talk were: completion of plans for purchasing Yorktown acreage for a military park; California's marking of the end of the pony express trail at Sacramento; that there are only thirty "real daughters" now enrolled in the D. A. R. national membership and that the interest on the national D. A. R. liberty loan of $100,000 is to be used this year as pensions for these old people; the Americanization work at Sacramento; the past two years of 375,000 D. A. R. immigrant manuals; the discussion of marking two historical spots in California during this year, one the old state capitol site at Vallejo, and the other in southern California to be decided upon. Plans for establishing a permanent fund by the D. A. R. for the upkeep of the waterworks in a French village; the bronze tablet presented to the national D. A. R. by the United States government

BOXING LEAD TO ENTERTAIN ELKS

Four Round Aces Picked to Show Ability Before Lodge Tonight

The members of the Glendale lodge of Elks will give free rein to their sporting proclivities tonight at 8:30 at the club house on East Colorado street when the jinks committee stages four boxing bouts between some of the best mitt slingers in the state, as a part of the first of a series of entertainments that is being planned by the chairman of the committee, Ray L. Galvin, and his chief assistant, Harry McCartney, both of whom are blown-in-the-bottle fight fans, who can pick a boxer on his merits as far as they can see him.

Tonight's program will bring together Jack Griffin and Terry Adams, two boys who strip around 145 pounds ringside, and who recently fought one of the finest bouts ever staged in the Vernon arena. So very good was the showing they made at that time that both Galvin and McCartney determined to give these boys a prominent place on the Elks' program that was then taking shape.

Two other fast steppers will be seen when Frankie Dolan and Frankie Novey mix it for four rounds at 118 pounds, and Art Springer and Ted Levin, at 120 pounds, are also expected to furnish lots of excitement while they are in the ring. Two more little fellows, 110 pounds, Benny Marks and Johnny Martin, are also on the card, which has been carefully picked by the jinks committee with a single eye to presenting real scrappers to the members of the lodge. Both Galvin and McCartney maintain that "there isn't a pork-and-beaner on the entire bill," and they guarantee action during every one of the sixteen rounds scheduled, or at least during as many of them as the fighters are able to avoid being pummeled by a knockout.

Harry McCartney will be the third man in the ring, and he promises to keep the boys fighting every minute they are up there. He declares, however, that he anticipates no difficulty in doing this, as every boy on the program is a past master at the four-round game, trained to the minute and ready to go the route at top speed.

The committee has been assisted in selecting the boxers for tonight's bouts by Wad Wadhams, the famous matchmaker of the Vernon arena, who has matched them as evenly as possible all around, so that every round should be full of action from bell to bell.

High School Golfers Enter Tournament

Glendale Union high school is sending a quintet to the Brentwood Country club at Santa Monica this afternoon to participate in a golf tournament in the Southern California Intercollegiate Golf league. High schools represented besides Glendale will be Hollywood, Pasadena, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Los Angeles high, and Malibu Arts. Coach Normal C. Hayhurst will be accompanied by Harold Thompson, Russell Thompson, Douglas White, Rolfe Eckels and "Bud" Copeland.

Police Hunt Suspects In Whipping Probe

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Several suspects were being trailed today by the police in their investigation of the beating of Frank Sanceri, 21, by a band of "white knights," organized for the asserted purpose of avenging womanhood, and arrests are expected, the officers revealed.

Sanceri, who was beaten on the top of Lookout mountain, in Hollywood, was scheduled to be taken today to the home of Artesia Jolley, the 13-year-old girl he was alleged to have attacked several weeks ago, to confront the girl's father, T. W. Jolley.

June was named by the Romans.

to commemorate the meeting of the limitation of armaments committee in the D. A. R. hall in Washington, the organization of a Benjamin Franklin chapter in the A. R. in Paris, France, and the plans for organizing a chapter in the Orient.

An invitation had been extended to Pierson W. Banning, president of the California Sons of the Revolution, to be present, but his duties prevented his acceptance, and a message was brought from him by Mrs. Margaret Gale, who told of Mr. Banning's valuable service at the Sons' Library in Los Angeles.

Meet in October

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Houston expressed the pleasure of the chapter on entertaining Mrs. Stookey. She stated that during the coming year the chapter will meet in the parlor at the Congregational church and that the first meeting after the vacation recess will be on the first Wednesday in October.

There were present yesterday Mesdames Lyman Stookey, Margaret M. Gale, J. H. Ballagh, T. W. Preston, J. H. Franklin, Jesse Flower, Ida Potter, Lizzie Pierce, Jones, H. H. Mann, W. L. Jencks, E. W. W. Hayward, W. G. Lyman, W. M. Brown, Saylor, Stickney, C. W. Houston, June M. Selleck, Rathbun, S. C. Leppelman, S. H. Butterfield, A. B. Purrier, Wilson, Elwood J. D. Mitchell, H. A. Strong, Peart, Dunn, H. E. Bartlett, J. A. Crawford, Kimball, Dr. Murphy, Misses Ida Myers, Katherine V. Sinks, Wella Paine, Gertrude Gibbs.

and Wilson avenue also is in charge of the public service department which received the contract about a month ago. Mr. Diederich stated this morning that the length of time necessary to put this system into operation would depend entirely upon the delay in getting the necessary materials, all of which has been ordered. He anticipates that the greatest delay will be in getting the glassware from the General Electric Company's River Works in Massachusetts.

Standards are to be placed 110 feet apart and opposite each other. Four hundred candle power lights are to be used. Two lights are to be placed on both the intersection of Harvard street and Wilson avenue.

The total cost of this installation will be about $6100. Standards cost $60 and the globes, which are similar to those used on South San Fernando road, cost $25 apiece. The lights cost about $1.10 apiece wholesale.

The cost of operation of this system will be about $8 a lot a year or approximately $1000 a year.

Will Dempsey's Second Hand Be Able To Stop Tommy Gibbon's Time Clock?

WHEN HE WAS CHRISTENED WILLIAM HARRISON DEMPSEY

NO ONE DREAMED HE WOULD BE SO ROUGH

When some geek remarked that Jack Dempsey fought like clockwork he was hitting 300 in the conversation line.

For Dempsey's arms carry out the clockwork a 7. He feints with his left for a minute and then socks his right over in a second for a k. o. If two hands ever worked more like those of a Seth Thomas we'd like to know it.

Tom Gibbons asserts boldly to us that he has no fear of Dempsey's minute or second hand. But the series week before last their record shows only one series won during the last four.

Strand of Salt Lake and Ellison of San Francisco continue to put up a magnificent battle for the batting honors of the league. With the close of the last series, there was only one point separating them, Strand having a percentage of 401, with Ellison at 400. The third man in line is thirty points behind, and neither of the leaders is expected to be displaced for the time being unless some decided and unforeseen slump intervenes.

In another month the teams will have arrived at midseason, and some fairly accurate forecasts as to final standings probably will be ventured, but the uncertainties of baseball are its greatest charm. A sudden slump will overthrow the most elaborate of calculations. As it stands now, the Seals look like an almost sure thing for the pennant, but they have looked the same in the past at this time and flunked out in the final weeks of play.

Speaking of Dempsey's deadly punching, we wonder if his pa and ma had any idea when they christened him William Harrison Dempsey and doted him up in ruffled-edged waists and U. S. navy hats that he would climb to the heavyweight championship of the world over a row of inert gladiators, knocked cold by one of his love taps.

Probably not. It wasn't until Dempsey was age ten that he began to take himself seriously as a fighter in the game.

All of which shows the power of SOCK. Dempsey may not be king of all the heavyweights of history, but he is KING of SOCK.

Now steps up Mr. Gibbons to dethrone him.

Tell mother I'll be there.

Claims Gibbons Will Win From Dempsey

PORTLAND, Ore., June 7.—Mike Collins, promoter, on a tour of the coast in the interest of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight, predicted here today that Tommy Gibbons would be the next heavyweight champion of the world.

"Don't be surprised," Gibbons knocks out Dempsey in the early rounds," the fight promoter warned. "But if the fight goes in fifteen rounds Gibbons will win on points. He is in the best condition of his career."

Collins informed that advance sales aggregate $425,000. He said the undertaking was an assured success already regardless of whether the east responded. Many special trains from all over the country have been signed up, the promoter stated. He is accompanied on his tour by Jim Johnson, mayor of Shelby, Mont.

athletic endeavor. He is a credit to his university, a credit to amateurism in general, and is beloved by all who know him, not only for his personal sterling qualities but for his clean, fair-play principles.

Sport Snap JACK KEENE

The acquisition of Outfielder Flagstead has been a benefit to Boston, as the former Tiger has been hitting the ball hard and fielding brilliantly. Boston, by the way, now is equipped with more outfielders than any other club in the league. For right-handers it has Joe Harris, Shano Collins, Flagstead and Howard Shanks, while left-hand hitters are Reichle, Menosky and Leibold.

Those players who worry about the improvement of their lawn tennis are to have the opportunity to test a number of new ideas. For example: It is seriously asserted that the remarkable success of Ichiji Kumagai, Zenzo Shimizu and some of the other gentlemen from Japan is to be attributed to kenjitsu.

Removing all the mystery and verbal fringe from kenjitsu it may be reduced chiefly to mean physical fitness. This is not all, however, and those who are interested in the subject may well watch the progress of the newest of the Japanese, the youthful Fukuda, while he is in this country this season.

One of the principal elements of kenjitsu, according to Shimizu, is fencing. He tells that Kumagai, who was the first of the Japanese to make name and fame on the lawn tennis courts, was a great swordsman and runner before he became a welder of a racket. The idea of improving one's skill with the racket by additional exercise with the foil is certainly one not to be lightly regarded. It certainly should improve the eye, wrist and the ability for rapid execution, all of which Kumagai possessed in no slight degree.

It is also revealed that Shimizu is accounted an expert in the ancient art of swordsmanship. It is not known whether or not Fukuda started his lawn tennis with fencing lessons, but from the proficiency he has displayed in his own country it may be accepted that he has. There is also another innovation in this scheme of becoming a champion of the courts. It advocates practice with a very soft ball. In explanation it may be said that the flabby sphere necessitates a lot of stroking and control which, once under command, is imparted as readily to the fast ball as to the softer one.

Willie Ritchie, who for two years has been threatening to come back again, has announced his intention to try his luck in the ring. This will be the former lightweight champion's second attempt. His first was not exactly a success, nor was it a complete failure.

Ritchie was stopped by Benny Leonard in the final period of a bout scheduled to go eight rounds. With but a few seconds to go the referee interfered while Ritchie was still on his feet, although in a decidedly groggy condition.

Although Ritchie was stopped, he put up a remarkable battle. He forced Leonard to put up the best fight of his career to win. Ritchie did not show any signs of age. He was just as good as he was the night he fought his sensational affair with Leach Cross in New York a few months after he had won the title from Ad Wolgast.

Ritchie is only thirty-two, and he has taken good care of his condition. There is no reason why he should not be able to fight almost as well as ever. The trouble is, Ritchie never was a great fighter, although a pleasing one to watch in action. He was lucky enough to catch Wolgast when the Michigan Wildcat was in poor shape. He had no one to beat until he faced Fred Welsh and Englishman.

Commission Declares Shade Welter Champ

NEW YORK, June 7.—Dave Shade of California has been declared the new welterweight champion of the world, displacing Mickey Walker, by the New York State Boxing commission as the result of the failure of Walker to accept a seven month standing challenge of Shade's. The action of the commission is in line with the ruling some time back displacing Johnny Kilbane in favor of Johnny Dundee, and Johnny Wilson in favor of Dave Rosenberg.

WILL INSTITUTE SCIOTS' PYRAMID

Parade, Headed by Band, to Include 300 Members Of Order

The institution committee of the Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots, consisting of R. J. Kinley, chairman; Arthur C. Kase, Matt Young, H. W. Stephenson, G. S. Stewart, F. A. Pratt, F. J. Mathieson, R. A. Sullivan, Geo. N. Adams and S. S. Gilhuly, together with the membership committee consisting of R. E. Murdy, chairman; N. P. Buck, A. C. Kase, H. W. Stephenson, R. J. Kinley, S. S. Gilhuly, C. M. Coye, G. A. Campbell, J. H. Huff, S. A. Warren, R. A. Sullivan, F. C. Butterfield and F. A. Collins have called a meeting at the office of Gilhuly & Russell, 212 S. Brand, at 8 o'clock tonight to complete the Pyramid Friday evening, June 8th, in the I. O. O. F. hall, 201-A West Broadway.

The arrangements will include a parade which will leave Broadway and Brand about 8 p. m. tomorrow evening, in which about three hundred Sciots will take part, including a fifty-piece band of the Los Angeles Pyramid No. 30, which will be on hand to live up the affair.

After the parade the party will go to the hall, where the Pyramid will be instituted and officers installed. The supreme officers of the order will be here from San Francisco to conduct the ceremonies incident to the institution of the Pyramid and the installation of the officers who will direct the organization. All Master Masons of Glendale and San Fernando valley are invited to attend.

There will be a splendid program together with a lot of smoke.

Angeleno Lays Head On Rail; Decapitated

FREMONT, Neb., June 7.—F. S. Kendall of Los Angeles, Cal., is dead here today as a result of being decapitated by a North-western train one mile west of this city. The engineer said he saw the man with his neck across the track, but was unable to stop the locomotive in time.

REPORTS OF PIRACY SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—That a state of piracy almost bordering on that which existed off the African coast many years ago, is now existing off the west coast of South America, was the claim made here today by J. W. Miller, purser of the Japanese freighter, Ryokai Maru. Miller said pirate attacks had resulted in several fatalities on American, English, Italian and Japanese vessels.

TAGGING ALL BASES

The Giants culled three very lonely hits from the delivery of Vic Aldridge and finished second to the Cubs, 6 to 1. Snyder's home run in the eighth saved the Giants from a shut-out.

Dutch Reuther collapsed like an opera hat as the Pirates annexed six runs in the sixth and coasted home in front of the Dodgers, 7 to 3.

The alleged pitching staff of the Red Sox was manhandled for sixteen hits, the Indians winning 17 to 4. Connolly got a home run with the bases filled in the fourth.

Walter Johnson burned up the Tigers with his speed and pitched the Senators to a 5 to 1 decision, holding the Cobb entry to five hits.

The Phils carried the Cards to eleven innings, but finally lost, 7 to 6, on Bottomley's triple and Meyers' sacrifice fly.

AVOID THESE SYMPTOMS "I was weak and nervous, had headaches all the time, and my back hurt so bad I could hardly stoop," writes Frank Richardson, Perry, Georgia. "Tried Foley Kidney Pills and got relief." Backache, rheumatic pains, tired feeling, dull headache, too frequent urination, discolored or strong odor are symptoms of Kidney and Bladder disorders and demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. GAMBLE ON BALL GAMES, IS CLAIM

Ring Operates Openly Daily In National League Park At Philadelphia

By DAVIS J. WALSH For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 7.—If the good Kenesaw Mountain Landis arrange to have an afternoon to himself, even at the sacrifice of his golf, he might do well to buy a quiet, unostentatious seat in the center field bleachers at the Philadelphia National league park. He will see something of interest; in fact, so interesting will be the activities in and around him that it is hardly possible the judge will experience some difficulty in keeping his attention on the ball game.

Nearly every afternoon for upward of five years a knot of gamblers has operated there during the home games of the Phillies. These men haven't the slightest interest in baseball as a sport; only in the matter of whether the batter reaches first base or fails to do so. They bet openly, and sometimes loudly, on every play.

This much the writer knows from personal observation. The bet is hearsay, but it comes from a source so reliable as to be worthy of the judge's immediate and painstaking attention. Baseball pools, condemned by the judge, are an innocent parlor pastime compared with conditions said to exist in Philadelphia.

Not At All Bashful The players, for example, are alleged by our informant to have more than a nodding acquaintance with the bleacher gamblers. They know them sufficiently well to pass the time of day in conversation, a highly reprehensible practice, if only for the sake of appearances.

"The betting ring," declares the man who advanced the information, "is second only to 'downstairs' at Pimlico or some other track. I often sit in the bleachers in Philadelphia and can swear to conditions. During a recent game with Pittsburgh I was only a few feet from the gang."

"There are usually about fifty men in this ring—and they sit in little knot in center field. They have big rolls of money in their hands all through the game and bet on every batter's chances of ending by first. They exchange money on the spot and call for batters loud enough to be heard all over the park. From their conversation with some of the players in the field, I have reason to believe that they are personally acquainted with the ball players."

"Three policemen sitting against the bleacher wall on the playing field occasionally take a glance at the gamblers, but that is as far as they go."

HIT PILL AROUND

Three more "golf bugs" were treated yesterday afternoon on the Griffith Park Links. They are normal C. Hayhurst, Eugene Volle, and Henry M. Burlaye. They were shown some of the tricks of putting by Howard Buterfield. All are members of the high school faculty.

SOUTH CENTRAL

The "Best Minds" are turning toward S. Central as offering the greatest opportunity for profitable real investments. The extensive improvements shortly to be made on this street must greatly enhance values over present prices. Have made a special study of South Central during the past year and have listings all along the line ranging from $5-000 to $50,000. Would recommend the only two single lots remaining at $5000 each, one in the Commercial Zone and unrestricted, the other extra large, a fine apartment house site.

SEE PREVIEW OF ANTI-DOPE FILM

Glendale Theatre Is Crowded
And Hundreds Unable to Gain Admittance

Indictment of the dope evil, portraying cross-sections of the highest and lowest society in which its poisoned fangs have been imbedded in recent years, is to be seen in the Thomas H. Ince production, "Human Wreckage," which has its studio preview at the Glendale Theatre last night. It will have its premiere in San Francisco Saturday.

Mrs. Wallace Reid, formerly Dorothy Davenport, who only a week ago here unveiled the symbolic ark at Forest Lawn Memorial park, in memory of her husband, who died a victim of his struggle to do without dope, has the principal role in the picture. She is ably supported by James Kirkwood, who left "The Fool," on Broadway, New York, to play opposite her in this anti-narcotic play. Robert McKim and others of the cast give vivid portrayals to the roles of hoppers, snobs, and the rest of the retinue.

Symbol of Terror
The hyena is used as a symbol of the terror of the dope evil, it being horribly effective in the dream scenes created for the purpose of carrying the lesson home that only added suffering, instead of relief, is offered by morphine, heroin and other deadening drugs. Cocaine, the use of which may be stopped by will power, according to medical authorities, is given slight attention.

Effects of the dope traffic among the criminal classes and the lower stratum of society is used to introduce a love story in which an attorney, employed to defend the dope ring, becomes an addict. Kirkwood, in this role, finds his wife, played by Mrs. Reid, resorting to dope, he is led to believe, although it is only a ruse by which she awakens the last spark of will power in his weakened soul and, sends him out to destroy the machinery by which the illicit trade has been built up.

In the climactic finish "Human Wreckage" turns out to be the heroin doped taxi driver, carrying to destruction the king of the dope ring and their thrilling race through the streets of Los Angeles, ending in a crash with a Southern Pacific locomotive, makes the finishing touch more than realistic. More than 1200 wildly applauded the production, while 500 more were denied admittance at the one show.

Messages of Hope
In the epilogue to the picture, carrying the major portion of the lesson to be found in Mrs. Reid's effort to smash the dope ring, Federal Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Mayor George E. Cryer and Police Chief Louis D. Oaks are pictured with messages of hope. They also took part in the court and street scenes, it is stated.

In a word, "Human Wreckage" is a dramatic film, but like laws designed to curb the dope evil it offers no solution for the problem. It is explained that even medical science can do no more than appeal to the psychology of the victim. Perhaps the film will be successful to that extent; surely, it paints an awful picture as to the results of using dope; and as a denouncement of the society doctor who gives his victim the first "shot" of morphine there is bound to be, certain good results.

Norma Talmadge and other guest stars were among those witnessing the preview, in addition to all members of the Ince production staff.

Masons to Postpone Dinner on Saturday

Impressive Funeral Services Held For Mrs. A. W. Tower, Attended By Many Friends

the De Pauw University chapter of the national Alpha Phi organization.

Friends Pallbearers

The various departments of the First Methodist church, to which she belonged for thirty-two years, and was at the time of her death enrolling secretary.

Glen Eyrie chapter, Eastern Star, which she served as matron in 1914.

De Pauw University, from which she graduated in 1904.

Representatives from these organizations entered the church in the following order: P. E. O., College Women's club and Alpha Phi, Eastern Star, led by Miss Mildred Lyon, worthy matron, Harry Redd, worthy patron, and past matrons and patrons, other present officers and members; officers and members of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Pallbearers, who were chosen from close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Tower, were Daniel Campbell, Claude Case, Frank C. Weller, Dr. C. R. Lusby, of Glendale, and George U. Moyle, principal of the Glendale high school, and W. A. Dunn, principal of the Los Angeles Polytechnic high school, both of whom were associated with Mr. Tower in the teaching profession.

Immediate relatives present were Mrs. Tower's husband and daughter, A. W. Tower and Ruth Tower; her father, Rev. W. B. Collins and wife; her niece, Miss Mary Jane Collins, and Mr. Tower's brother, Dr. O. I. Tower, and wife and two children, of Los Angeles.

A brother in Indianapolis also survives, but was unable to come for the services.

Pastor's Text

Dr. Snudden took for his text, John 17, 24, "Father, I desire that those that Thou hast given me be with me where I am, that they may behold my glory." During his address he paid high tribute to Mrs. Tower's character and as pastor and friend expressed deep sympathy upon her untimely passing. In conclusion he made an impressive prayer.

Dr. Henry I. Rasmus, Sr., gave the Scripture reading as introductory passages the Twenty-third Psalm and John 14. In closing he read an obituary written by Mrs. Tower's father, Rev. Collins. The complete obituary is given later in this account.

Music was beautifully rendered by Mrs. E. R. Ripley, organist, and a quartet composed of Miss Isabella Isgrig, Arthur Pearl, Glen Dolberg and Dr. P. O. Lucas. "Lead Kindly Light" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," favorite songs of Mrs. Tower were sung.

Musical Tributes
During the service Miss Isgrig sang "Crossing the Bar" and all those gathered for the service were asked to sing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," which was the favorite hymn of the deceased.

As the final organ number Mrs. Ripley played softly "O Love That Will Not Let Us Go," which was from the church a long cortege passed through the city to Forest Lawn Memorial park, where the burial service was conducted by the Glen Eyrie chapter, Eastern Star, with a staff of past matrons serving as officers.

Funeral services for Mrs. Tower were held at the residence of the Eastern Star order, conducted by Miss Mildred Lyon, present worthy matron, and a group of past officers. The corps of officials included A. M. Beamon, worthy patron; Mildred Lyon, worthy matron; Sallie Campbell Braden, Adah Alma Vesper Naudain, Ruth Adelaide H. Imier, Esther; Cora Hickman Stearns, Martha; Mary O. Pollock, Electra; Mary Ogden Ryan, marshal; Margaret McPeak Campbell, chaplain.

The final prayer was made by Dr. Rasmus.

Offers Obituary

Rev. Collins, Mrs. Tower's father, wrote the following obituary, read by Rev. Rasmus.

"Louise Pearl Collins, daughter of Reverend William B. and Mary E. Collins, was born in Indianapolis, Indiana, December 30, 1882, and departed this life June 4, 1923, in Glendale, California, thus being in her forty-first year of age. The best of American blood flowed in her veins, she being a lineal descendant of the renowned Adams family of Massachusetts, and also of that famous General John Stark who fought so nobly in our American Revolutionary War.

"Blood always tells, and so in her case there were traits of character that spoke well of those who had gone before. Her early life was that of the average Methodist preacher's home, and her whole life has been under that same influence. Fortunately her educational opportunities were most excellent, coming as they did from the schools of Vincennes, Indiana, New Albany, Indiana, and Louisville, Kentucky. She graduated from the Louisville, Kentucky High School for girls in 1901. The same fall she entered De Pauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, and graduated from there in 1904. She gave two years to teaching in high schools, one at Oakland City, Indiana, and one at Ishpeming, Michigan, where her father was in the pastorate.

Early Romance
"In early life she and Alphonso W. Tower became acquainted, which acquaintance ripened into their joint period of time in De Pauw university. Mr. Tower preceded her one year in their college life, and at the conclusion of his term of college he came to California to prepare a home for his prospective bride. In June, 1906, he went back to Ishpeming, Mich., to claim his bride, and the 23rd of that same month they were united in holy matrimony, the father of the bride officiating in the ceremony.

"The union thus consummated proved a happy one, and for almost seventeen years now this devoted couple have walked the pathway of life together in the happiest bonds of marital life. Each believed profoundly in the other, and as a consequence their home life was a happy one. One darling child, Ruth Evelyn, now just 10 years of age, was given to crown this union.

Joins Church

"The religious life of the subject of this sketch began when she was only eight years of age, for in 1890 in the city of Vincennes, Ind., under the pastorate of Rev. L. H. Murlin, she was received into full membership in the Methodist Episcopal church, her father being the presiding elder of the district. So, for thirty-two years she had been a member of the church of her choice. Her religion was not of the demonstrative kind, but it was wholesome and good. Many are the places that she has filled with credit in her church life. She has also had much time for social life, and twice was honored with the presidency of the great Tuesday Afternoon club here in Glendale. She was matron of the Eastern Star lodge one year; she was an active member of Chapter L of P. E. O., the College Women's club, and of several other organizations. Her work in the Sunday school of the First Methodist church brought her into close contact with all the young people in the school, and the great majority of them she knew and loved. Her place here will be hard to fill. Plainly speaking, she was an all-round woman, handling a great variety of interests in the entire life of the community.

Within Her Home

"But, while much of her work was general, her best and most enduring work was within her home. Her home was her real citadel, and in the language of inspiration, 'her child will arise up, and call her blessed; and her husband, also, and he praiseth her.'

"Her home was always in order, and when the end came no blot was to be found therein. Her days and her weeks were all planned beforehand, and as a result she accomplished wonders in her work. Mr. and Mrs. Tower were planning large things for the future. And, why not, for, to them life was full of promise. But, alas, their golden dreams will never be realized in this world because of the work of the grim reaper.

"The call came in great suddenness, and when she fell it was at her post of duty within the home. She fell just where she last wrought. Why one so young, so full of life, so full of hope, so able to accomplish, should be cut down so soon is more than we can understand. Doubtless God's great eternity will remove the mystery.

"The faithful husband, the darling child, a loving father, an only brother, the second mother, mourn their great loss. Other relatives, fraternity sisters, church workers, and a host of friends almost without number join the nearer relatives in their deep sorrow. But up yonder we shall meet again if faithful unto the end. 'Till then, dear departed one, we bid you a fond farewell.'

PLAN PAVING OF CENTRAL AVENUE

Property Owners Appoint
Committee to Report on Best Material

In response to the call of realty owners on South Central avenue, about 100 met at the Magnolia avenue school last night to discuss the beautifying of Central avenue. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Bennett, chairman, and Mr. Marshall, secretary.

The principal topic was the paving of Central avenue from Broadway south to San Fernando road. After a thorough discussion of the methods it was unanimously decided to pave the street from curb to curb with a six-inch pavement, first laying water and sewer mains with service connections where necessary.

The chair appointed a committee of five consisting of Messrs. Marshall, Hague, Bear, Knox and Selyer to investigate the different kinds of pavement and report their findings to the next meeting. Discussion was then entered into on the new Southern Pacific depot site and motion was made and seconded that "it is the desire of the people here assembled to protest against the action of the City Council in condemning property at the foot of Cerritos avenue for the opening of an entrance to the new Southern Pacific depot," which was unanimously carried.

European Gem Thieves Cornering Diamonds

LONDON, June 9. — The little cafes that cluster round the Central station at Antwerp are seeing a boom in the stolen diamond trade. Gems worth at least $2,500,000 recently reached this illicit market.

They include several diamonds that disappeared from a dealer's office in the Rue du Quartre Septembre a few weeks ago. The disappearance coincided with the visit of a personage of lordly mien who was understood to say that his friend the King of England had asked him to choose a few things for a wedding present.

The dealer bowed, rubbed his hands, and produced tray after tray of diamonds. The visitor selected stones worth $50,000 and was about to go to the bank for the money when the dealer missed some stones and yelled for the gendarmes. The stranger was searched and nothing was found.

Nothing short of a good round sum would compensate the stranger for this indignity, compromised at $25,000 and left the shop with the cheque in his pocket.

Another stranger visited the shop later, looked over the stock, and bought a cheap ring. An assistant, who had put his hands on a lodge under the counter, but there was no rule against that.

A workman varnishing the counter the other day found under the ledge a piece of wax with the impression of the stolen diamonds.

Japs Find Valuable Phosphorus Deposits

TOKIO, June 7. — A yield of 50,000 tons of phosphorus annually for the next fifteen years is promised from Isumabara island, in the South seas, to the Lasa Phosphorus Company, a Japanese organization. The island was discovered only four years ago, but it already promises to make its discoverers wealthy.

Mexican Labor Influx Filling Steel Towns

GARY, Ind., June 7. — Mexicans by the hundreds are being brought to the Calumet Industrial district to work in the large steel mills and other plants, it is reported. At least 1,000 have been brought recently. Immigration restrictions limit the influx of Europeans.

Time's Passage Fails To Bother Villagers

TILTONVILLE, Ohio, June 7. — Eastern time, or daylight-saving time—it's all the same here. Tax Assessor Henry West reported that only one watch has been listed with him for taxation here. West said the habit of men bragging about the accuracy of their timepieces is "out of style for the present."

Montrose C. C. Stages Successful Dance

The Montrose Chamber of Commerce dance last night was a big success, over 200 dancers, young and old, yielding to the enticing strains of A. M. Kelly's Shine Club orchestra, of Glendale.

The affair was held in the new Reinhardt block at Honolulu and Montrose avenues, across the street from the Montrose State Bank, in a hall attractively decorated with flags and brilliantly illuminated.

Mrs. Ella Ellis, chairman of the committee in charge, together with the other women of the Chamber of Commerce, are responsible for making the dance the big success it was.

Messdames Campbell and De Garmo presided over the punch bowl.

Among those present were a number of Glendale couples, who voted it was one of the best times they had enjoyed in a long while.

Automatic Light New Device on Lifeboats

LONDON, June 7. — An invention aimed at lessening risks to life at sea by the automatic illumination of lifeboats when they are launched has just been successfully tested.

By the device two small electric lamps are switched on by contact established from a float contained in a tube fixed to the stern post of the lifeboat, the float being forced up the tube by water when the boat is launched.

Storage batteries sufficient for twenty-four hours' continuous light will be carried.

Letters Are Awarded To H. S. Athletes

Boy athletes, who have distinguished themselves this term, are receiving their letters this week at Glendale Union High school.

Leslie Lavelle yesterday was elected captain of next season's track team. Coach Normal C. Hayhurst issued letters to him and the following others: James Purdy, Weldon Hanson, Cedric Maydwell, Eugene Farr, Carlyle Bailey, Clifton Clouse, Howard Elliott, Darrell Elliott, Earl Boehm, Frank Lurchin, Richard Kelsey and Cyril Walton.

Baseball letters will be issued this afternoon by Coach Howard Butterfield to the following: Robert Bradbury, Elmer Muff, John Lovell, Leslie Lavelle, Wesley Pomeroy, Pete Keogh, Darrell Elliott, Howard Elliott, Lewis Dotson, Walter Krukow, Walter Whitney, Paul Edmonds and Carl Denny.

Jaywalkers Numerous In New York Streets

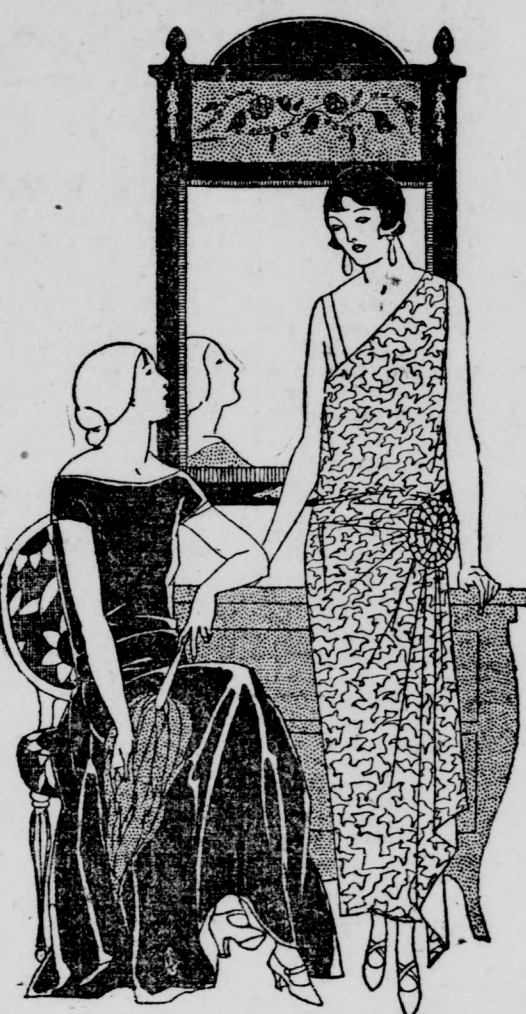

NEW YORK, June 7. — The new police department safety bureau is trying to cut down accidents by educating the people of the largest city in the world against jaywalking.

In the last three months more than 10,000 persons have been stopped and given the "minute lecture" by patrolmen for flitting with death by taking "pasture cuts" across Broadway, Fifth avenue or some other busy and dangerous street.

VESUVIUS ACTIVE

ROME, June 7. — The volcano, Mount Vesuvius, was reported today to be getting active.

Glendale Tennis Team Wins League Title

Glendale Union High school's masculine tennis team is being congratulated upon winning the championship of the Central Athletic league.

According to Coach Normal C. Hayhurst, the recent match with Alhambra, which was won by the score of 13 to 4, displayed much agility.

The local net quartet consists of Robert Stanford, Howard Wimmer, Tom Woods and Robert Laird.

MOVING COWS

In Spreewald, cows are taken to their island pastures in flat-bottom boats, and in the winter if moved about are put in crates built fast to the sleds.

THE GLENDALE.
"My Friend, the Devil," now showing at the Glendale Theatre, disproves the theory that there's nothing new under the sun. It contains that bird of rare plumage, an original plot.
In addition, the film has a powerful theme, unexcelled dramatic sequence, superlative portrayal, romance, thrills, and a motif that will win the praise of everyone.
Harry Millard, who made "Over the Hill," swung the megaphone on "My Friend, the Devil," using in his excellent cast Charles Richmond, Peggy Shaw, Barbara Cas-leton and others equally well known.

The scenario was written by Paul H. Sloane, one of the outstanding film dramatists in the profession.
Edward Everett Horton's latest starring vehicle, "The Crash," was presented tonight at the Glendale Theatre. It is a Jess Rolbins production, with Barbara Bedford, Jimmie Kelly, Carl Steel and Zasu Pitts in the supporting cast. It should attract another record crowd such as was seen last night.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR HIGH JINKS

Glendale Realtors to Spend Saturday, June 16, In Joyous Frolic

The final plans for the Glendale Realty Board's Jinx Day will be made at a meeting that is to be held tomorrow night at the office of Twining & Myers, 227 1/2 South Brand, when the committee will meet to go over the details and to put the finishing touches on the tentative plans that have already been made, according to an announcement made at the meeting of the Realty Board at the Harriet Mae Tea Room on East Harvard yesterday by the chairman of the Jinks committee, W. L. Twining.

Only members of the Realty Board and the members of their immediate families will be asked to the celebration, Mr. Twining states, and no outsiders except representatives of the local newspapers will be invited, as it is intended to make Jinx Day a sort of a family affair at which the members can get together on a basis of complete informality, where they can wear their old clothes and where they can every one participate in the stunts that have been arranged by the committee.

As Mr. Twining says, "All wall flowers are barred and every person present will be expected to shed his reserve and act natural and pleasant."

Saturday, June 16
Jinx Day has been set for Saturday, June 16, from 3 p. m. until midnight, and the members of the board will gather at the Haddock & Nibley park, that was formerly the Verdugo City Park, but that has been allowed to escape from the city's clutches, according to Mr. Twining. There will be dancing in the evening, music at intervals all afternoon and evening, plenty to eat at dinner time, and a party that will roll the years back from the shoulders of the older members, temporarily at least, and that will make the younger members act like veritable kids, while the time after supper will be devoted to the younger folks and to their special entertainment.

The grounds committee, consisting of Councilman W. A. Horn, chairman, Mayor Spencer Robinson and City Manager W. H. Reeves, has been commissioned to prepare the pavilion at the park for dancing, and as Mr. Horn has deputized his associates to do the heavy work of sweeping out the pavilion, this task will fall on the mayor and the city manager, who have been forbidden to detail any of the city workmen to do the job.

Elsa Jane will have charge of the arrangements for the ball game, which will, it is predicted, establish a sensation in the playing of the national game; the dinner is the special affair of W. McMillan; Peter Hanson and Fred Johnson will build the camp fire; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wilson will direct the dancing; W. L. Twining, Cameron D. Thom and Hal Russell will look after the music; and Dr. Jessie A. Russell will have charge of the women's half hour.

New Phone Directory To Be Issued Soon

Fred Deal, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company here, announces that Glendale will have a special telephone directory, including a classified business section, issued very shortly. There is a demand for an exclusive listing other than that contained in the cumbersome county book, he states.

Growth Of Glendale Due To Eating And More Eating Due To Growth Of Glendale!

By GIL A. COWAN

"DEAT" is said to be the most expressive term in the American's contraction of the king's English. It took a boy from Boston to enlighten me as to what it meant, his definition being, "Have you as yet had the sustenance served at the dining table?" To be perfectly frank, eating is a prime occupation with most people. On ship board, in army camp, at cafeterias, in hotels, at public auctions, in dining cars, at crossroads stores we have eaten our fill and always enjoyed the meal.

All of which has nothing to do with the gradual change being wrought in Glendale eating houses. In the early days you used to do your own "stretching" at the boardinghouse table. Then came the restaurant, the celebrated, but long-forgotten two-bit chicken dinners were featured twice a week. Hash on Monday, ham hocks on Tuesday and so forth was the menu of the only restaurant Glendale boasted some ten or twelve years ago. If we recollect right, the Woods hotel claimed an a la carte dining room where you could get steaks, chops and a little more variety.

Evolution Is Here
Today as we were looking at the remodeling going on in the new Jensen's Palace Grand shops building for the establishing of "The Egyptian Village cafe," we could help but think of the evolution in "eating houses."

The cafeteria has taken its place in our daily routine; the confectionery and restaurant has come to stay; the Spanish cafe is in our midst; an inn has been opened with a banquet hall above; a tea room is being successfully conducted while catering being a commonplace affair; the quick lunch in our stores, the coffee shop, the beanerie and the all-night waffle parlor are to be found in Glendale of this day and age.

Along the roadsides the hot dog palaces and barbecues lure the tourist while in the downtown district almost any sort of service may be found and at the Glendale Sanitarium you may live on a vegetarian diet if you desire.

Writes New History
There still are with us exclusive Spanish restaurants, savoring of the early days when hot tamales and chile con carne and frijoles were special attractions for the tourist in southern California. But we must add that the Egyptian village will write new history in the matter of "eating houses."

Henry Jensen yesterday told me of his plans for giving Glendale something different in the way of a high class restaurant with Chinese and Italian decorations will be reserved for parties; an orchestra and perhaps a pipe organ will be installed in his Palace Grand shops where the elite may take their guests.

"You know it is possible for a restaurant to serve a better meal for less money than you can prepare it at home," he said. "When a restaurant buys its potatoes by the wagonload, its flour and sugar by the barrel and its meats in great quantity decided reductions are gained over the retail price. If we could but take that profit, it would be enormous. However, the cafe owner passes over part of the profits to the customer. He gives better service. Indeed, I find I can live at restaurants more cheaply than at home."

Prices Are Less
If you will visit the various cafes and lunch counters of Glendale you will find that good food is served here about 25 per cent less than what you pay in other cities of the size for similar service. Competition is that keen that few have made fortunes in the business while the public enjoys the profits.

ATTORNEY TELLS OF DOPE MENACE

Growth in Drug Addicts' Ranks Is Revealed By Official

"Our Criminal Situation" was the topic of a talk by Charles G. Fricke of Los Angeles, deputy county district attorney, yesterday noon at 111 South Orange street, before the Glendale Exchange Club.

Attorney Fricke has been a member of the county district attorney's office since September, 1917. He has been connected with the prosecution of over 4,000 criminal cases. In view of this fact, his speech was heard with unusual interest by members of the club who felt that he certainly ought to know what he was talking about.

"Silk and jazz" is responsible for a large amount of crime at the present time, in the opinion of Attorney Fricke. He called attention to the fact that many law-violators have a low grade of intelligence which does not qualify them to hold a lucrative position. When they envy luxuries, which they realize that they can never obtain honestly, they are inclined to resort to dishonesty.

Tells Dope Evil

The narcotic evil and its serious consequences, the speaker commented on the fact that the proportion of narcotics used per inhabitant is much larger in the United States than in any of the other countries of the world, not excepting India, where large quantities of opium are produced. He quoted the following statistics per person per annum: Italy, one grain; Germany, two grains; England, three grains; India, twenty-seven grains; United States, thirty-six grains.

About 5,000 drug addicts live in Los Angeles, according to Mr. Fricke. He said that it was not necessary for them to walk more than three blocks from the federal building before being able to obtain a "supply of dope."

"Hop-heads" are not easily distinguishable from other individuals, in the opinion of Mr. Fricke. All reports to the contrary notwithstanding. He stated that his contact with criminals both inside and outside of prisons has led him to ascertain that those who appear to be drug addicts are not and that many of those who do not appear to be drug users are confirmed addicts.

Addicts Subnormal

Drug addicts appear subnormal, according to Mr. Fricke, only when they are unable to obtain the necessary dose. He said that inability to obtain this supply subjected them to physical and mental pains which seemed to resemble more than anything else a death from starvation and a malignant disease combined with the tortures of purgatory.

"Of course, you must realize that these men are some relation between narcotics and crime," he remarked. "I am wonderfully glad that such a vigorous campaign is being conducted against them."

"Drug addicts will stop at nothing to get the drug. It is sold by drug stores, ordinarily at a comparatively small price. The pedlar, however, charges a dollar a grain. Usually they start in at one-eighth of a grain a day. Before long they require five, ten or twenty grains a day. When you consider the necessity of their having 20 a day just for 'dope,' you can realize why so many of them get into crime."

The percentage of increase of the drug habit in the past five years in the United States, according to Mr. Fricke, is close to 100 per cent. He remarked that most drug addicts before long become pedlars in order to supply their own needs. He added that in some cases juvenile drug pedlars are working right in the grammar schools, giving the drugs to girls with headaches, and boys who are run down from study or athletics. He asserted that it only takes from ten to thirty days to make a confirmed drug addict.

Lauds Judge Reeves

High tribute to the efficiency of Judge Sidney M. Reeves was paid by Attorney Fricke. He stated that Judge Reeves takes the pains to investigate the character of each defendant who comes into his court, and does not attempt to dispose of their cases, regarding probation, according to fixed rules.

The need for a penitentiary in Southern California was emphasized by Attorney Fricke. He asserted that Los Angeles county now supplies one-third of the inhabitants of the two state prisons. The attendance prize was a course of glandular treatments donated by Dr. Jim A. Belyea of 111 East Broadway. It was won amid much excitement by Attorney W. C. Ansbach of 111 East Broadway, also. He promised to walk across the hall of the Central building regularly for his treatment.

Guests at the luncheon included Benjamin C. Sheldon of Los Angeles, formerly state senator of Oregon, and Kent E. Keller of San Diego, formerly state senator of Illinois, both of whom made brief speeches. Harry K. Stephenson of Long Beach and J. C. McReynolds of Los Angeles were guests also.

ELECTRIC MOTOR

Fuel economy of 20 per cent is claimed for an electric motor operated attachment for residence heaters that automatically controls the drafts and operates a blower fan.

MORE THAN 200 TO GRADUATE FROM HIGH SCHOOL

List Of Those Who Are Due To Receive Diplomas This Term

About 238 students will graduate this term from Glendale Union high school. Owing to the fact that they came from other schools and their credits have not definitely been ascertained, the graduation of four members of the senior class is still uncertain. These are: Richard Kelsey, Louis Steele, Eugene Flynn and Miss Marie Louise McNabb. The list of graduates, who are almost certain to obtain diplomas, is as follows:

LABOR CHIEF IN PLEA FOR COURT

Gompers Urges Workers to Back Harding Plan to Enter Tribunal

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 7.—In a special plea to organized labor to support President Harding's world court program, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, predicted late Tuesday the court will mean "at least a drawing close to the League of Nations." Expressing approval of the league, Gompers said:

"It is true that joining the court does not mean entering the League of Nations, but I think we shall not stop in developing after we have taken the first step. If we can recover from the disunity and partisan political expediency that have marked our glorious position thus far in relation to world affairs, I anticipate no great difficulty in continuing on to our logical destination."

Gompers asserted "it is unfortunate that there should be any division of opinion among our people over an issue wherein our manifest duty is so clear and wherein the course marked out by American tradition is so apparent."

Scores Progressive
Gompers rapped the so-called progressive group in congress, after a tribute to its attitude toward domestic affairs by declaring "it renounces its own progressivism when international affairs are under consideration."

Progressivism, he said, can never rise to its full stature until it shakes off narrow prejudices and provincialism.

Gompers said he believes it would be stimulating both to America and to the people of other countries if congress would at the earliest possible moment authorize by unanimous vote the United States' adherence to the court.

Friends Believe in Follette's Innocence
Channing Follette, Los Angeles township justice of the peace who is facing charges in connection with the conduct of his office, has many boyhood friends in Glendale, who express their belief in his innocence. He was a student at the Cerritos avenue school when it was known as the Tropico grammar school. His scholastic achievement won him early prominence and those who know his history are prone to believe he is the victim of false accusation.

Great Britain imported 205 organs, worth $35,000, and 16,274 pianos, valued at $1,672,000 last year.

Arrest Bookkeeper On Embezzlement Charge

HOOD RIVER, Ore., June 7.—Howard L. Dumbolton, former bookkeeper of the Butler Banking company here, has been arrested on a charge of embezzling $11,000 of the bank's money. He is held in jail awaiting bonds of $3000. Heavy investments made by Dumbolton in oil stocks led to the investigation which culminated in his arrest.

RAISE FEES FOR REALTY MEMBERS

Associate Memberships Will Be Settled at Early
Date by Board

Changes in the by-laws of the Glendale Realty Board, chiefly affecting the amount of yearly dues and the amount to be paid by associate members of the organization, came up for consideration at the weekly luncheon in the Harriet Mae Tea Room on East Harvard yesterday, when it was proposed to raise the annual dues from $5, as at present, to $60 a year, the new figure to cover those expenses that have been raised in the past by special assessments, membership in the National association of Real Estate Boards, individual membership in the California Real Estate Association and its description to the National Real Estate Journal.

The adoption of the $60 membership fee went through with little or no discussion, but a stiff battle raged around the proposal to fix the associate membership fee at $10, some of the members contending that this was too high an amount to ask, while others maintained that, considering the benefits to be derived by associate members from their association with the board, the $10 fee was not unreasonable. After the proposition had been canvassed from every angle, it was decided to postpone further discussion on it until the report of the committee on the multiple listing system, that is now working, could present its report and until action on the report can be taken by the board.

The by-laws of the Realty Board provide that all active members must maintain as associate members all salesmen who participate in the multiple listing system, these memberships to be transferable within their respective organizations. The question of the continued adoption of the multiple listing is to be considered by the board as soon as the committee reports, and on the decision reached at that time will hinge the continuation of the associate memberships in the board, to a large extent.

Financial Statement
The financial report of the committee, for the six months ending June 1, showed receipts of $3490.67, with disbursements of $3469.18. Estimated receipts for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923, are $7950, basing a part of the anticipated revenue on the $60 membership fees and on the $10 fee for associate members. The estimated expenditures for the coming year are fixed at $5000, leaving a balance of $2950.

A suggestion for advertising Glendale at the coming national convention of realty men at Cleveland, to which Dr. Jessie A. Russell will be the delegate from this city, was made by Peter Hansen, chairman of the committee. It (Continued on Page 4)

TOMORROW—Pioneers Assemble in Texas; San Antonio Host to "Freighters," by Webb C. Ariz, San Antonio, Texas.

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
For International News Service

ROME, June 7.—In order that the boys of today in Italy shall arrive at maturity well prepared to take their places in the ranks of the Fascisti, an "advance guard" has been organized, whose members are between 13 and 17 years of age.

The boys will be trained in good principles and morals, and the idea of Fascism implanted firmly in their minds, while their bodies will be strengthened by judicious and systematic training.

The "advance guard" is formed like the other military organizations and divided into companies, etc. It is under the special charge of an inspector general, who belongs to the command of the volunteer militia, who hold themselves responsible for the public safety and order, and who represent one part of the organized Fascisti.

May 24 marked the anniversary of Italy's entrance into war and an interesting ceremony took place. Thanks to the initiative of Mussolini the ceremonies in the desolate region of the Carso, where so many brave men laid down their lives, were consecrated. The principal solemnities were observed in the historical cemetery of Redipuglia, where lie the bodies of about 30,000 dead. The Duke d'Aosta represented on the occasion the Italian army and the king, Trieste was represented at Redipuglia by all its civil and military authorities, and a large number of the mutilated soldiers, who held a convention in Trieste, on May 23, also was present.

Riccardo Casali, a chauffeur, in company with a friend, was driving an automobile belonging to his employer along the road to Tivoli when he met with a slight accident to one of his wheels. To enable him to go on it was necessary to replace the broken part. Another automobile was coming up behind them and he appealed to the chauffeur in charge. One of the occupants of this second automobile immediately ordered the chauffeur to stop and give the missing piece to his brother in distress. Casali, occupied with his repairs, did not notice who it was that had shown him this kindness until, his machine in order again, he turned to thank the stranger and to ask for his address so that he might send him back his property. But to his utter astonishment he found himself looking into the face of King Victor Emmanuel III, who, in ordinary every day dress, was traveling alone toward Tivoli, and who smiled kindly at the two young men who were trying to stammer their apologies and thanks as he went on his way.

A few days ago the Queen and the younger princesses were spending a little time on one of the royal estates, Castle Porziano, near the sea. A little boy of eight years old, the child of a peasant family on the property, was looking out of his window one morning and was so enthusiastically interested in watching the little princesses fishing on the beach that he fell out and was badly injured. The Queen heard his cries and picked him up, bringing him inside the castle and doing all that was possible for him. He was then taken to the Polyclinic Hospital in Rome for the necessary surgical treatment.

A few days later Queen Elena came unannounced to the hospital, accompanied by only one lady in waiting, as she not infrequently does, and among those was the little Amadeo. He is improving now, and when Her Majesty asked him what he would like especially he told her that he very much wanted a bicycle. Whereupon he was assured that when he was able to return to his home he would find a bicycle just the size for him awaiting him. Now he can scarcely wait to get well.

BILLY WHISKER

The Chums had been at sea a week and were feeling perfectly at home and happy, being well fed and taken care of, but in danger of growing fat and lazy from overmuch petting.

Billy was a prime favorite with all the sailors. Button was a special pet of the cook, and Stubby of the captain. Stubby followed him everywhere, and if the captain sat down, Stubby jumped in his lap for a petting. The captain liked to stroke his head and pull his ears as he read and smoked while on deck off duty. Of course Stubby enjoyed this for if there was anything he liked more than another, it was to have someone slip his ears through their fingers and scratch his back. Not because he had fleas, for there was not a flea or a bug of any kind on the Chums, as they were washed and scrubbed every morning at four o'clock when the sailors washed down the deck. For this captain kept his schooner as clean as if it were a three-decked passenger steamer.

Billy objected to all this scrubbing, especially at such an early hour. He would say:

"I can't for the life of me see why sailors get up so early in the morning. It makes such a long day. Why can't they let a fellow sleep until seven o'clock anyway? They begin to scrub at daylight and what is the use, for they loaf all the rest of the day unless there is a storm to keep them busy. This cold bath they give me every morning makes me cross. I scarcely get my long hair dried out when they are after me to give me another."

"If you don't like it, how do you think I feel about it?" said Button. "Everyone knows how a cat hates water. Besides, it makes my eyes all sticky and dull looking. However, I don't think I shall have to put up with it much longer as I heard the cook say she was not going to do it again for she had come to the conclusion that cats could take care of their own coats better than she could for them. It is how of the boat and have Billy tell us more about Panama and what we are likely to see there."

"All right," said Billy. "Come out on the forward deck."

(Tomorrow you'll hear more of the trip of the three strange chums.)

DINNER STORIES

There had been rats in the neighborhood, but at last with rat poison the rats had been subdued, and the children were impressed when told that the rats would go out of doors to die.

Shortly after this they heard of a man in the neighborhood who was dying.

"Mother," they said, "will he go outside to die?"

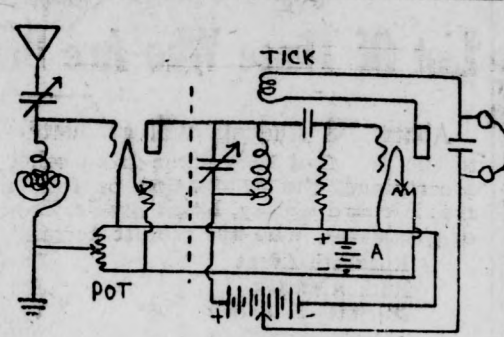

"Of course not," their mother said, not realizing why they made such a speech.

And only when their reply came of "Oh, how dreadful," did she realize their line of thought.

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

Most of you have heard the "canary birds" twittering and whistling in your receiving set, and may have wondered what it was or how it could be stopped. For those who have not yet found out what it is, it is regenerative sets oscillating and being miniature transmitting sets.

ADDING ONE STAGE OF RADIO

I have spoken to radio inspectors regarding this, and they have felt the party who was deliberately allowing his set to oscillate and sending out signals was violating the law, both as to transmitting without a license and, where they did have a license to transmit, by unnecessary interference with broadcast reception. The latter would be sufficient cause for revoking their license.

If this law is ever enforced, and it will be, means must be taken to stop this nuisance. It can be obtained by doing away with regenerative sets and using one more step of audio frequency amplification, which really is the simplest way after all, or it can be done by putting in a step or more of radio frequency amplification. Naturally the majority of fans do not want to go to any more expense than they can help, but, on the other hand, as more people become interested in radio and aerials are on top of every house, it will then be so that every time you listen in you will hear this "canary bird" stuff on the same wave length as the station you are trying to copy. It will be that wave length, because it is a miniature continuous wave station and you do not hear it unless you are on the same wave and the average fan picks up a station by the beat-note method, which is all wrong.

A vario-coupler, two condensers and three stages of well designed audio frequency will solve this problem, although one stage of radio and two of audio will give better results in the telephone. It is the latter I have in mind and the drawing shows how one stage of radio frequency should be added to your set. This shows a panel wiring diagram of one stage of tuned radio frequency, the material to the right of the dotted line being that of the single-circuit regenerative tuner employing a vario-coupler and a variable condenser in series with the aerial.

In this case the aerial and ground binding posts are connected to the aerial and another binding post connected to the other side of the variable condenser. This binding post and the ground binding post are your connections to the amplifier, one going to the plate and the other to the positive B battery. Audio frequency amplification is not shown in the drawing, but it can be added to it the same as other sets shown previously.

With this hookup it is absolutely impossible for you to interfere with even your next-door neighbor, as any oscillations set up by the detector tube cannot get back to the aerial through the amplifying tube due to the fact that currents only pass from the filament to grid to plate and not from plate to grid to filament. Therefore, in this type of receiver the oscillations are blocked and although your set does oscillate and you hear the whistle and can pick up your station easily they are not disturbing others, which is not the case of the majority of receiving sets.

The bad feature of these young transmitters is that they are always tuning to the best stations and depriving others of real entertainment. If fans would tune in a station, stop the set from oscillating and sit back and enjoy the programs, the inconvenience caused by their first tuning in would not be so bad, but some of them are continually monkeying with either the rheostat or tickler coil, and drive many people from this most fascinating indoor sport.

The article on the reflex set is one that should be tried by all fans who can afford it; it certainly does bring them in nice and without any distortion, and as this set employs radio frequency and a crystal detector, it is non-interfering.

If you have a .001 condenser in series with your aerial you cannot tune near as low as with a .0005 microfarad type.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE RICE PUDDING

Grandfather Goosey Gander fluttered over to the hollow stump bungalow one day to play a game of Scotch checkers with Uncle Wiggily Longears. The game was going along nicely, and the bunny rabbit gentleman was about to move when, all at once, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy poked her head in the door and said:

"I beg your pardon."

"What for?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Because I want to ask you to do me a little favor," went on Nurse Jane. "Just a little favor."

"Kindly give it a name," suggested Uncle Wiggily. "Grandpa Goosey and I will do almost anything for you."

"It is very simple," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I have made a rice pudding, but it is too early to put it in the oven to bake for supper. I want to go out, but I may not be back in time to bake the pudding. If you would put it in the oven for me—say about 4 o'clock—all will be well."

"Give yourself no further thought about it," Nurse Jane, begged Uncle Wiggily. "Skip along wherever you are going, and I will whip the pudding in the oven at the right time. It's your move, Grandpa Goosey."

So the two friends went on playing Scotch checkers and Nurse Jane, after looking at Uncle Wiggily and saying she hoped he would not forget the pudding, went to the 7 and 8 cent store, shopping.

Grandpa Goosey had just beaten Uncle Wiggily at one game of checkers, and they were about to play another, when the goose gentleman quacked and said:

"Aren't you forgetting the rice pudding, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Oh, bless my pink nose, so I am!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "I will take me only a minute, though, to skip out to the kitchen and take the pudding from the table where Nurse Jane left it and slip it into the oven of the stove. I'll be right back and we can go on with our game."

Out into the kitchen skipped the bunny gentleman. On the table he saw something thick, round and brown.

"That's the rice pudding in the dish, all ready to slip into the oven," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I will soon be baking, while Grandpa Goosey and I play checkers."

Into the oven of the stove he popped the round, brown, flat thing, and back to the room where Grandpa Goosey was waiting Uncle Wiggily hurried. They played more games of checkers until, all of a sudden, a queer noise was heard in the kitchen.

"What's that?" asked Grandpa Goosey. "Has Nurse Jane come back?"

"No, it doesn't sound a bit like her," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Let's take a look. I don't want any voices or Bob Cats in the kitchen."

So the two friends went into the in regard to the concessions which had been granted to his syndicate, he said:

"France, it seems, did secure some options about the same time that we did, or, if anything, after we did, and the balance is in our favor."

"Our concessions in the Angora were based upon overtures made and consented to by the parliament of Turkey, while the concessions of France never went further than ministerial recognition. The Turks insist that the only binding contracts are those that come from parliament."

"My experience is that the Turks are crazy to have Americans understand Turkey. The Chester project and the good will with which it has met in Turkey is only one indication of their desire to establish good will between the two countries."

CHESTER'S SON SURE TURKS WILL HOLD TO GRANT

Arthur Chester, son of Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, representative of the Ottoman-American Development Corporation in Asia Minor, is confident that the concessions will hold good with the Turkish authorities, and said on his return to the U. S. recently that his company had had an option for two years to make a survey and decide upon what was to be done. The Turk had not asked him for any money, and the only cash involved in the transaction was the sum of $30,000 paid out for the option.

In his opinion the most valuable part of the concessions he had obtained was the mineral rights for twenty kilometers on each side of the proposed railroad from Samson in the Black sea to the Mediterranean, which included branch lines to Mosul and Angora.

Chester said that he had spent fifteen years altogether in dickerings with the Turks, and felt that he was beginning to know something about them by this time.

A Triumph of Art

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY
Ad Schuster

Lucy Lyons, organist at the Acme Picture House, walked home after the show with the faithful Turner Peck and pretended to listen as he talked of the pictures.

"There was one swell one, Lucy, about a poor fellow who had a double and a girl who got them mixed. I tell you I could hardly wait to see how it came out, but it finished proper."

"I'm saying it finished proper. They, they agreed to get married, got engaged I mean, like two folks who like each other ought to. Don't you think so, Lucy?"

"Turner Peck, don't you think of anything except motion pictures?" And Lucy never said so much as good-night as she walked up the steps to her home and left a crestfallen suitor.

"Gosh," said Turner Peck, "I wasn't thinking of pictures. That music of hers is turning Lucy's head."

Inside the house the girl told a reflection in the mirror just what she thought of Turner and matrimony.

"I don't claim to be a great musician, she said, 'but I'm giving the Acme some real stuff. Don't I play from the best comic operas every time there is a comedy shown, and don't I give them the real classics in the weepy scenes? Does he ever say anything about the music? Does he know good music when he hears it? No, all he thinks about is those blonde heroines and the pictures. I'll never marry a man who can't appreciate music."

In spite of this decision Turner continued to call for Lucy. It was handy for her to have someone see her home and was no task for the young man to stop in at a theater which changed its program each night. He revealed in screened love stories in the early evening hours and, on the way home with Lucy, tried in vain to make progress with a real one. Not once did he mention the music. Lucy sought the compliment by giving the best that was in her to the organ. She introduced Beethoven and Godard to the Acme crowd and was proud when she substituted for "Hearts and Flowers" the poignant strains of Tchaikovsky. And Turner talked of custard pies!

When Lucy was ill there was no organist at the Acme. Turner thought the pictures stupid and decided it was because he was worrying about the girl. It was several days before he was allowed to call and each evening he sought distraction in the picture house.

"She's almost well and there's no need to worry," he told himself, "and yet these pictures are no good without her."

The next evening Turner was allowed to call on Lucy. The window was open and they looked out across a lot and into the window-squared wall of an apartment building.

"Well," asked the hopeful musician, "were the pictures good?" This was a chance. The girl hoped he had discovered what was missing. Maybe he knew now.

"No. They were awful slow. I guess it is because I was worrying about you." He reached for a hand which was drawn away. Lucy's eyes were filled with tears. She knew now it was hopeless. From within the apartment came the sound of a piano, the scattering tinkling sounds a person makes when trying to make up his mind what to play. Then the melody started. It was her Godard piece, the one she had played so often in the hopes of winning a word of praise from him. She looked up and saw that Turner was listening intently, a puzzled and pleased expression on his face. Until it was ended he was silent.

"Do you know," he said softly, "I believe I have heard that piece before. It is funny—don't laugh at me—but it seems as if I have heard it many times without realizing it. It's pretty, isn't it, Lucy?" He was fearful lest she scorn his judgment.

The player started again and once more the young man listened. He liked it and was frankly surprised at himself. For a moment it was as if the love of music had been born on the instant and he was bewildered. Then he saw an explanation.

"Lucy, do you know what you have been doing? You have been educating me and a lot of other fellows to good music and we never knew it. That is what was the matter with the pictures. Why, girl, you can't understand what you have done!"

Turner did not know this was a proposal, the only one which could bring him happiness, but Lucy did. And she accepted him.

When you see half a dozen automobiles parked in front of a house, what do you make of it, Watson?

That a party is going on there? That would have been a safe bet ten years ago, but not now. Take a look at the house nowadays before you deduce that, and see if it bears the sign of having enlargements or repairs.

Some ten or twelve years ago an acquaintance of ours, who was a born social climber, married a young doctor. She said frankly before she married him that she intended to see that he got in with the right people. She said he lacked social flair himself, but she was going to see that he met the right people.

Her first step was to move him from our old-fashioned neighborhood into a more fashionable one. Her second to give a tea. And after the tea she made a boast to one of her old friends (who duly handed it on) that she was meeting the wealthy people, that there were at least half a dozen automobiles standing outside her door at one time during the afternoon.

It looked like a party. And just think, that was little more than ten years ago!

Now for the incident that made me remember that boast and also write that first paragraph. As I walked down to take the trolley for town yesterday, I saw five cars parked in front of a house.

"What's up at the G's?" I said. "It looks like a party, but it's a bit early in the morning for that." My companion laughed. "It is a kind of a party," she said. DELIGHTFUL IN BLUE EPOUGE

No one of the cotton fabrics so extensively used this season makes up more delightfully than epouge. This model in the new style called bluebell, closes at the left side of the inverted vestee and has set-in sleeves, which may be made long or short. The skirt is gathered and attached to the lower edge of the blouse under a girde of self-material. Mercerized picot braid trims the collar, cuffs, pockets and upper edge of the hem. Medium size requires four and a quarter yards of thirty-six-inch material. Pictorial Review Dress No. 1542. Sizes, thirty-four to fifty-two inches bust. Price, thirty-five cents.

SLEEVELESS DINNER GOWN

To sleeve or not to sleeve, is the question to be decided in duplicating this dinner gown of orchid Georgette, for it is as attractive with a close-fitting cap-sleeve beyond the shirred shoulders, as it is without. The skirt is draped at the front under a girde of deep lavender satin and, if desired, a cascade drapery may be added at the back to extend from collar to hem, or longer. Medium size requires four and three quarters yards of thirty-six-inch material. Pictorial Review Dress No. 1639. Sizes, thirty-four to forty-six inches bust, and sixteen to twenty years. Price thirty-five cents.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

THE POWDER PUFF

Some girls seem to think that the powder puff is the all-in-all of beauty necessities. Given a large puff—and a clever mind its age, for new ones are awfully expensive these days, nor its condition, and given sufficient powder (the cheaper it is the more you can use), all facial blemishes may be successfully hidden.

But, alas, this isn't so. A great deal of danger lurks in the powder puff.

First of all, there is the danger from dirt. We all know that rubbing over the face with powder and a puff takes off a great deal of surface dirt and a lot of oil. Now where do you suppose all this goes? Into the puff, of course. Next time, more powder is rubbed in and more dirt rubbed off, and so on, for I dare say hundreds of times—unless the puff wears out. Can you imagine the vast numbers of germs that burrow and lurk inside a soiled puff? Some day, then, you'll rub that bad puff over a scratch, or an open-headed eruption, filling it with dirt and germs and perhaps making an ugly sore or a scar.

Good powder puffs are costly, and their age does not matter, that's true enough—if they are kept clean. Soap and water costs little, lamb's wool puffs, the best, wash and dry easily. If you have two, you can wash one each week—and no puff should be used longer than that without being thoroughly cleansed.

As for powder, use little and use the best you can afford. It should be the proper tint for your skin, and it should be a vegetable powder. Mineral powders are drying and harmful.

Brunette—There is no way to extract dye from the hair, but a suggestion that may help is to cut off as much of its length as you can separate, as that helps the balance to recover the natural shade much faster.

R. S.—At 15 years, height five feet three inches, your weight is correct at 111 pounds. Eat less rich food and drink plenty of water to help you get rid of these pimples.

Worried—Sometimes the hands are red because there is a restriction somewhere in the system such as faulty elimination or even tight bands around the waist. Correct the cause and you will be rid of the annoyance.

Laura N.—With blue eyes, golden hair and fair skin you will find that all shades of blue, green or brown will be very becoming to you. You will have no trouble, though, in wearing any color. I will mail you the directions on caring for the hair if you send a stamped, addressed envelope for this information.

Merle—There is nothing more distinctive than a clear olive skin. So, should be no reason why you should bleach yours.

H. M. W.—When the skin on the elbows becomes hardened, scrub it and then use a pumice stone, after which rub into it as much cream as is possible.

Tomorrow—Making Your Own Powders

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty years old and have been going steady with a boy for two years. He always says he loves me and that I am so different from other girls. All of a sudden he disappeared for two months. Then he came back and said he did not know what got into his head. After that it seemed to me he did not care for me as he did before.

We both belong to the same religion, only he goes twice as much as I do. I have only time to go once a week, but he keeps saying I don't try hard enough to go. That hurts me very much.

When I started to go with him I had a home and he used to come to see me at home. But for the last two months we have broken up housekeeping and I am working in a private home where not even girl friends can come to see me, much less boys. He asked me if he could come to the house and I told him he couldn't and explained how it was. He has seemed to feel worse toward me since.

I have a girl friend who tells me I do not show my love and that would keep him. Do you think this is so? Would you advise me to keep going with him? This girl friend takes girls and boys to the house where she works, but never has been able to take the boy she goes with steady to her own home. He says that any little fuss they would have the family would know about. I am sure he loves her very much. Why do you think he does not want to go to her home?

ANXIOUS BROWN EYES. I would not advise you to show your boy friend how much you love him. He does not deserve to know unless he asks you to marry him. Let him go if he wants to. It seems to me his interest in you is wavering, and the harder you

HEART HOME PROBLEMS

By Mrs. E. G. BROWN

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty years old and have been going steady with a boy for two years. He always says he loves me and that I am so different from other girls. All of a sudden he disappeared for two months. Then he came back and said he did not know what got into his head. After that it seemed to me he did not care for me as he did before.

We both belong to the same religion, only he goes twice as much as I do. I have only time to go once a week, but he keeps saying I don't try hard enough to go. That hurts me very much.

When I started to go with him

I had a home and he used to come to see me at home. But for the last two months we have broken up housekeeping and I am working in a private home where not even girl friends can come to see me, much less boys. He asked me if he could come to the house and

I told him he couldn't and explained how it was. He has seemed to feel worse toward me since.

I have a girl friend who tells me I do not show my love and that would keep him. Do you think this is so? Would you advise me to keep going with him? This girl friend takes girls and boys to the house where she works, but never has been able to take the boy she goes with steady to her own home. He says that any little fuss they would have the family would know about. I am sure he loves her very much.

Why do you think he does not want to go to her home?

ANXIOUS BROWN EYES.

I would not advise you to show your boy friend how much you love him. He does not deserve to know unless he asks you to marry him. Let him go if he wants to.

It seems to me his interest in you is wavering, and the harder you try to hold him, the less he will like you. As soon as a friend becomes difficult to get along with it is just as well to let him go.

I can't imagine why the young man will not go to the home of your girl friend. His excuse seems to me false, because it would not is the desire of the committee to send some snappy, attractive advertising to be distributed among the convention delegates and visitors, and Mr. Hansen asked for the authority of the board to incur the expense involved in preparing this advertising, which was granted. The design to be followed is yet to be decided, but the suggestion put forward by Charles B. Guthrie, that Glendale's well known peacock be used as the keynote of the design, with population and other statistics set forth in brief, but telling form, received favorable consideration.

Protest on Sign
The electric sign that hangs across San Fernando road at the southern entrance to Glendale was the subject of a protest that was voiced by James W. Pearson, who declared that people entering Glendale under that sign got the impression that the main business section of the city lies in that district and that no encouragement is given them to investigate any other part of the city, and to see the business district that lies along Brand and Broadway. A motion by Mr. Guthrie, that the City Council be asked immediately to remove the sign from its present location and to install it at the average city, are far superior here, it would seem to the writer who has travelled around enough to know whereof we pay for what we eat. And the merchants' lunch is more economical.

Hotel Is Next
In the whole program there seems to be but one thing lacking and that is a hotel where meals are served guests. Some of these days Glendale is going to get that hotel, if all of us don't tire of waiting. And when it does the cycle of "eating houses" will be complete. Even chop suey, if you please, may be obtained in Glendale now.

No longer do you have to abide with what the "hasher" hands you. There's a place for every palate, with indigestion guaranteed if you shop around enough to sample the different diets to be found.

So ring out, wild dinner bells. There's no need to ask you "dear?" If you haven't, it's your own fault. The waiters are waiting for you.

Meteorites which fall on the earth's surface are composed usually of stone and but rarely of iron.

The Realty Board passed a resolution endorsing the expansion campaign that is to be launched by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce next Monday and promised active co-operation in the effort to enlist new members.

Commander Inspects 9th Army Corps Area

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Major-General Charles G. Morton, commander of the ninth army corps area, left yesterday on an extensive inspection trip of the eastern and northern part of the corps area. He will proceed overland by motor car to Carson City and Reno, Nev.; Ogden and Fort Douglas, Utah; Fort D. A. Russell, who; Logan, Utah; Boise, Idaho; Portland, Salem and Corvallis, Ore. The inspection tour will require about six weeks and includes a tactical inspection of troops at Fort Douglas, Utah, and Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming.

Show Gain In Postal Receipts During Year

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The American postal system is being flooded with business, fifty selected cities having reported a gain of 11.29 per cent in May business over the same month last year. Postmaster-General New has announced. Mail receipts for the fifty cities in May aggregated $24,901,691 as compared with $22,375,004 for May, 1922.

Los Angeles headed the fifty cities with the largest gain, amounting to 26.71 per cent. New Haven was second with 22.83 per cent.

SEEDS PROHIBITED
South Africa has prohibited the importation of the seeds of any variety of Indian hemp or any mixtures of seeds containing them except under a health official's permit.

Mr. Haas has sold his Pasadena home at 156 North Central avenue. Mr. Devol, who recently sold his home at 1136 East Colorado boulevard, has bought the former home of Judge Reeves' son, at 148 North Highland avenue and has moved there with his family.

Mrs. Hohlfeiger, of Kenilworth avenue, is now in Morgantown, Ia., where she will visit for six months with relatives and friends.

Mrs. James Johnston is building a house at 157 North Central avenue, which she and her daughter, Miss Leora Johnston, will occupy upon completion.

Mrs. Blanche Gardner, librarian of the Eagle Rock branch of the Los Angeles Public Library, represents this section at the California Library Convention, at Yosemite, June 4, 5 and 6.

R. Bolten, of South Ellis avenue, is building a duplex in Glendale.

Mrs. Nellie Nelson and her mother, from Tacoma, Wash., are staying with their friend, Mrs. C. A. McLeod, of 322 Loy Lane.

Mrs. E. D. Koen has purchased two lots at Briggs Terrace, North Le Crescent, having fallen under the spell of some tracks she found on the premises, which she claims are deer tracks.

F. B. McNary has reached his destination in Pennsylvania, according to a wire received by Mrs. McNary, of 805 South Central avenue, who has left with her sister to join her husband in the east, where they will spend the summer.

"The Covered Wagon" at Sid Grauman's Egyptian Theater, Hollywood, was witnessed last night by Mr. and Mrs. Lanier Bartlett of Eagle Rock.

EAGLE ROCK BUILDING RECORD FOR MONTH GOOD

Eagle Rock Fifteenth in Total of Permits Issued During May

May was a big building month for Eagle Rock, the fifteenth in the history of the section, the total of permits issued being $218,510.

This puts Eagle Rock fifteenth on the list of Southern California cities, ahead of San Bernardino, Riverside, Anaheim, Orange, Redlands and many others of far greater population.

Realtors point with pride to this building record for May, most of them being of the opinion that the stimulus given the section by consolidation with Los Angeles will produce many record months in the near future.

Club Notes
The Wednesday Morning Study club met yesterday morning with Mrs. C. A. Kirksey, 210 East Hill avenue, thirty members being present.

Mrs. Mary Fiske, the teacher, conducted a lesson on Phoenicia and Persia, as part of the program outlined for June.

The topic for next month will be Babylon and Syria, Mrs. Fiske announces.

This club is taking the American college course in ancient history.

The Business and Professional Women's club met Monday night, June 4, at the Eagle Rock Public Library, and adopted a constitution and by-laws. Another meeting will be held at the same place next Thursday night, June 14, at which officers will be elected.

It is felt that this organization answers a very definite need existing among the young business and professional women of Eagle Rock, for a social body.

Clean-Up a Success
Announcement is made by the Eagle Rock Fire Department that thirty-six permits have already been issued, since the first of the week, authorizing the burning of grass and rubbish on property of the district.

The department points out that there is no risk incurred in burning off weed-grown lots, as the co-operation of the fire-fighting apparatus and the personnel of the department is always at hand to prevent a fire spreading.

Permits to burn are not issued, moreover, until the property has been examined and found to be clear the proper distance from the edges.

New Realty Firm
H. I. Devol has re-organized his real estate business at 204 East Colorado boulevard, taking in as a partner J. Richard Haas, of Pasadena. The new firm name is Haas & Devol.

Mr. Devol states that they have taken a two year lease on the premises and will remodel the same, adding curtains and electric light fixtures and making a very attractive office. He gives as his reason for taking in a partner the fact that business has been so good he has found himself unable to handle it alone.

In substantiation of this fact, Mr. Devol has been observed of late, riding around in a new and beautiful Willys-Knight coupe.

Mr. Haas also drives a Willys-Knight, proving the two men to be partners in automobiles as well as business.

Mr. Haas comes to Eagle Rock as a realtor after nineteen years of successful realty business in Pasadena, where he has gained the reputation of a highly successful home-seller. He will attend mainly to this end of the business, while Mr. Devol will look after office matters.

Mr. Haas has sold his Pasadena home at 156 North Central avenue. Mr. Devol, who recently sold his home at 1136 East Colorado boulevard, has bought the former home of Judge Reeves' son, at 148 North Highland avenue and has moved there with his family.

Mrs. Hohlfeiger, of Kenilworth avenue, is now in Morgantown, Ia., where she will visit for six months with relatives and friends.

Mrs. James Johnston is building a house at 157 North Central avenue, which she and her daughter, Miss Leora Johnston, will occupy upon completion.

Mrs. Blanche Gardner, librarian of the Eagle Rock branch of the Los Angeles Public Library, represents this section at the California Library Convention, at Yosemite, June 4, 5 and 6.

COMMENT That's All

Lady Luck With Glendale Industrial Survey Needed New Aviation Records Night Life Is Waning

By Gil A. Cowan

LADY Luck, the goat of Hugh Wiley's California fiction, must be chewing tin cans in the vicinity of Glendale. For otherwise we cannot account for the announcement that two factories, employing 3000 people, are to be planted in our midst.

That announcement in the news columns yesterday was one of those pleasant surprises enjoyed by a community which tends to its own knitting, as it were, while others scramble for the honors.

Knitting mills and a motor truck manufactory are desirable industries for this community, and in full accord with the class of people who inhabit this favored vale.

Industries are essential to Glendale. As the community grows it must be self-supporting to a large extent, and it takes the production of many things to make it so.

Already this city has many ideal enterprises, and more are being established almost daily. The coming of some gigantic, going concern is to be heralded far and wide, yet a great deal of credit must be given those infant industries which are thriving here.

Glendale produces beverages and extracts for Pacific coast supply; it has one of the finest tile plants in the West; its boxes and baskets are filling demands for the fruit and vegetable growers of the Southland; while scores of accessory factories, two candy plants, the greatest glass-inclosed greenhouses and chemical works of national importance are located here.

An industrial survey of this city should be undertaken immediately by the Chamber of Commerce to reveal what a sizable payroll, what a great production, what a wonderful field already exists. This would show others the possibilities of successfully conducting high-class concerns here and give the merchants something tangible on which to base their potential business.

Duration and distance records for torpedo-carrying airplanes were set at San Diego yesterday by naval seaplanes. The United States will soon hold about all the aerial records to be hung in the sunny skies of Southern California.

Flying conditions here are recognized as ideal. Local aviators hold high praise for Glendale's flying field, while San Diego bay always has been recognized as the greatest place for seaplane maneuvers.

A visit to North Island is well worth the while of those interested in aviation. Some week-end make San Diego bay on your itinerary and see for yourself the very types of modern airships which yesterday toted a ton of weight to cloudland.

Twenty years ago the world was looking for something which would lift a lone man's weight above the ground, other than a Texas twister.

Night life in Los Angeles is painted a drab color by café men. By midnight their crowds want to go home. All because there is no more alcohol to feed the jangling flame, they opine. In fact, they are very sure that prohibition is the cause for the new scheme of affairs. And it took this long for them to find it out!

Some of these grand days we will rear ourselves repeating the forgotten law: "Early to bed and early to rise makes men healthy, wealthy and wise."

As for jazz, it has run its course, it would appear from the latest selections.

As for Glendale, the café man "across the street" tells me that it is a 10 o'clock town when it comes to night life. He says they run home at the theatre home as though the Sandman was after them.

But in the daytime—omigosh! The streets are crowded with automobiles, lots of shoppers, and enough activity to satisfy almost anyone.

Two Youths Held On Auto, Check Charges

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Suspected by the police of wholesale check passing and automobile thefts totalling more than $10,000, two youths, Edwin Ball, seventeen, and Curtis Clark, sixteen, were arrested late Tuesday by an officer from the Hollywood police station after an exciting chase through the Hollywood business district.

Suspicion of the actions of the two youths arrested the attention of Officer Holman when they failed to heed his command to stop. Instead, Ball, who was driving, sped the machine away and only stopped when the officer drew alongside him, after a chase, and commanded him to halt at the point of a revolver.

'Bath House John' to Attack Dry Amendment

CHICAGO, June 7.—Alderman John Coughlin—"Bath House John," the very same—was to present to the city council soon a resolution attacking the Volstead law as an infringement on the fifth amendment. The sovereignty of the several states is guaranteed by the fifth, according to Coughlin, and nullified by the eighteenth. The draft of the resolution calls on congress to legalize light wine and beer. It asks repeal of the Illinois search and seizure law, too.

BURBANK CHORAL CLUB TO FINISH PROGRAM

Three Concerts Will Bring Talented Artists as Entertainers

The Burbank Choral club will complete its program for the year with three concerts, to be given during the present month. On June 8 the Usuna Quartet, assisted by Vern Isom, accompanied by F. Stillwell Moore, will be heard in a second concert. On June 22, the club will broadcast via the Anthony radio. And on June 26 will be given the big final concert of the season.

The club has recently drawn up a new constitution and by-laws, to take care of its expansion. Among the many admirable provisions is one creating a waiting list for admittance, which can be drafted from to fill gaps occasioned by non-attendance of members.

The Burbank Choral club is a private organization that, through sheer merit, has grown to community proportions, and bids fair to assume county dimensions before long, being recognized as one of the highest-calibered musical organizations in the Southland, say its admirers, who are legion.

Cemetery Not Barred
The question of whether or not Burbank is to have a cemetery is agitating the city greatly. An ordinance prohibiting any burial grounds within the corporate limits of the municipality has passed its first reading by the Board of Trustees and comes up for final action next Tuesday night, June 12.

Two petitions on the matter have been brought to the attention of the trustees—one, signed by forty-five property-owners and residents of the northwest section, urging the passage of such a measure; the other, bearing the names of 173 persons interested in seeing a cemetery open in Burbank, calling for the rejection of the ordinance.

Therefore, the published statement that the trustees have already finally passed the measure prohibiting burial grounds within Burbank is not correct, as final action, one way or the other, is expected next Tuesday night.

Shooting Club Formed
Those who enjoy shooting wild animals and birds—and who is there who does not, when it is done with a camera?—will be interested to learn of the formation of a camera club in this city.

R. J. Rosenberg, of the Photo Art shop, is the promoter of the idea, and has succeeded in bringing a number of photographic enthusiasts together, among them Mrs. Walter Fisher, R. W. Colburn and Earl Wilson.

Mr. Rosenberg announces it to be a plan of the organization to take trips to the mountains, beaches and, in fact, any place where good photographic work can be accomplished and subjects are not lacking, and on these occasions to give practical instruction on picture taking, so that the veriest amateur can learn how, what and when to "shoot."

Later, when the club is well along and a number of these amateurs have become "semi-pros," it is planned to hold exhibits and give prizes for excellence in photographic work.

Office Transferred
Lieutenant Clyde W. Coryell, U. S. N., has been transferred from San Diego to Mare Island, where he is in charge of construction work around the docks. With his wife and baby, the lieutenant recently visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Coryell, of Orange Grove avenue.

The Burbank Choral club was represented at a Monroe Doctrine Centennial meeting, held recently at the Athletic Club, Los Angeles, by Mrs. Yale, who had been invited by Mrs. Frankel, chairman of the music committee. It was decided that on the last day of the centennial, when President Harding will be present, the Burbank Choralists will contribute to a great ensemble of 1000 trained voices that will rise in mighty and melodious anthem, to greet the leader of the nation, on his long anticipated visit to the Southland.

The new Burbank armory is to be embellished with a cannon and pile of cannonballs on the front yard, the regimental commander having been informed by the adjutant general that a requisition for the same has been approved. This will add a touch of military atmosphere to the armory, it is felt. A similar requisition has been made for the Pasadena armory.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Lloyd and Mrs. Lloyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harlow, spent the week-end at San Luis Obispo, visiting relatives.

F. E. Anderson has sold his property at 320 Tujunga avenue to J. F. Hedges. The property had been improved by the Andersons with two bungalows in front and a house in the rear.

From Salt Lake
Mrs. J. L. Norwood and son arrived from Salt Lake City and will make their home in Burbank. They are stopping at an apartment house for the present, with Mr. Norwood of the firm of Carroll & Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson of 443 Orange Grove avenue are enjoying a visit from their daughter,

Quiz Watchman In Auto Shooting Case

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—A new angle was uncovered in the investigation of the mystery murder of Mrs. Florence Wilcox last Saturday as she rode in an automobile with three companions, it is announced following the inquest over Mrs. Wilcox's body.

Fred Bartel, a private watchman whose badge and uniform, it is claimed, resembled that of a policeman, was called to central police station for questioning. Detective Lieutenant "Trainer" declared he had learned that Bartel had been friendly with Miss Dorothy Miller, who was severely wounded at the time Mrs. Wilcox was shot to death by a hail of mystery bullets. Police Lieutenant Chapman, in charge of the university division, testified at the inquest that Bartel had questioned about the affair.
